AUSTRALIA PLANS HUGE WAR EFFORT

Liner Bombed In English Channel

One hundred and six persons were estimated to have been killed when a German bomber swooped down on the 8,441-ton liner Domala and scored hits with three bombs, and then machine-gunned the decks. This was the first time since the outbreak of war that a German war plane has launched an attack west of the Straits of Dover. An R.A.F. plane is pictured flying above the Domala as it blazes fiercely off the English coast following the German attack. This picture was radioed to New York and then transmitted by Phonephoto.

Salvation Army Goes Into Drive to Raise $30,000 in War Fund

With no fanfare of trumpets, but with the organization and preparedness which is traditional, the Salvation Army today began a city-wide campaign to raise $30,000 as Edmonton's share of the $1,000,000 National War and Home Work Fund of the Salvation Army. March 11 is the date set by army authorities as the day on which general solicitation will begin here as well as in every city, town and village in the Dominion, and the nation-wide effort is scheduled to close eight days later.

H. R. Milner, K.C., well known in legal and business and financial circles in Edmonton has accepted the chairmanship of the campaign organization for Edmonton, and under his leadership committees are being organized for a thorough canvass of the business houses and civic and government institutions. Other well known business leaders who are active in the various committees are H. H. Cooper, Frank Pike, W. W. Prevey, J. A. Hill, J. Walker, John Dower, R. J. Dinning, John Sydie, J. Anderson, Julian Garrett, Rev. George A. Macdonald and others.

Many of the businessmen serving on the committee are familiar with the work of the Salvation Army in the 1914-1918 Great War, and of the huts and other services which have already been put into operation with Canadian forces overseas and in Canada.

FAMOUS RECORD

"Guns and shells have no place in the war program of the Salvation Army," said Chairman Milner today in speaking of the necessity for the local campaign, "but the morale-building work from which the Salvation Army is famous as a result of its record in the war of 1914-18, is indispensable in this war. Canada needs, and is having, the Salvationists' best services in behalf of soldiers at the front, for soldiers in training and for soldier's dependents at home.

"A million dollars seems to be a small amount to finance the far-reaching work which is now being rendered by this great Christian organization among Canadian soldiers. Recreation centres have been provided and more have been ordered; "dry" canteens, where soldiers can find the famous "Salvation Army doughnuts" and tea or coffee; chaplain service, hospital visitation, writing rooms, libraries and reading rooms, sock-darning, clothes-mending, educational and recreational departments, hostels (beds and meals for Canadian soldiers in London and elsewhere) — a general, thoroughly helpful service is now in effect and is constantly being enlarged.

HUGE CONTRIBUTION

"There is no doubt The Salvation Army is making an immense contribution to winning the war. Whatever helps our soldiers, helps our British Empire, and helps each of us individually. So the least we can do is to show our appreciation and give generously. The Salvation Army needs a million dollars and the people of Canada should raise this amount and more, and turn it over to the Army. Edmonton will have no difficulty in raising its quota."

R. A. F. TOLD TO BE READY FOR SUDDEN BLOW

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

WITH THE ROYAL AIR FORCE IN FRANCE, March 6—All officers and men with Britain's advanced air-striking forces were warned today that the present lull on the Western Front cannot be expected to continue indefinitely. With improvement in weather conditions chances for a sudden blow have improved, the forces were told.

The officers and men were instructed that respirators, steel helmets and anti-gas clothing must be near during work and that rifles and revolvers must be carried during travel.

Regular air raid drills were ordered and the personnel was ordered to wear respirators at least a half hour each week.

Official circles said the orders did not mean they regarded aerial assaults imminent. They desired, they said, to counteract a certain laxity regarding anti-gas equipment.

Premier Menzies Reveals Army Corps of 80,000 Men Will Be Sent To Europe

By J. E. HOLDSWORTH
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia, March 6.—Prime Minister R. G. Menzies uncovered for the first time today the scope of Australia's war effort, and revealed that the government plans the dispatch of an army corps for service overseas.

Answering the critics of his government in a nation-wide broadcast, the prime minister disclosed that in addition to the army corps the government envisages establishment of a reserve of 90,000 men and the calling up for home training of at least 25,000 and possibly 50,000 men.

An army corps normally is made up of four divisions, totaling in all with ancillaries over 80,000 men. The British expeditionary force which landed in France in the first weeks of the war was made up of two army corps, but since has been expanded.

THE IMMENSITY

The immensity of the Australian program was seen in the fact it will cost at least £180,000,000 ($618,000,000) spread over two years, or three times the cost of the corresponding period of the first great war.

STRENGTHEN AIR FORCE

The prime minister said the Australian Air Force will be strengthened to seven times its size in 1939, and that by June, 1942, 17,000 people will be employed in munitions factories supplying not only Australia but Great Britain and New Zealand.

No hint of the size of the government's program had been allowed to drop prior to the broadcast, and consequently the announcement was a surprise to those on the other side of the range of politics, who had held that Australia has not contributed in sufficient measure to the Empire's war effort.

Like Canada, Australia will send an Air Force squadron overseas to act in co-operation with the expeditionary force. Special railway and forestry units also will be sent overseas.

"The task is very great, but if we abandon bickering it is not beyond our capacity," Mr. Menzies declared.

BRITAIN HOLDS CARGOES OF 8 ITALIAN SHIPS

Seized As Prizes In Tightening Campaign Against Nazi Exports

LONDON, March 6—Great Britain today ordered the cargoes of eight Italian ships—declared to be coal from Germany—held as prizes in her tightening campaign to halt all seaborne exports from Germany.

Nine Italian ships have been brought into the contraband control station at the Downs, but one of these, the Loasso, was released by the enemy exports committee.

It was established that she sailed from Rotterdam, where the Italian coal flotilla loaded, on March 1 before the order to halt German coal shipments to Italy was issued.

Two of the Italian ships were brought into the Downs station today.

The ministry of economic warfare said all nine were flying the Italian ensign and all were "assumed to be carrying coal."

Today's additions are the Liana and Rapido, both colliers. The other seven are the Orata, Felce, Caterina, Absertia, Ernesto, Numidia and Loasso.

The last named, at first described as a tanker, has been identified as a coal ship, the ministry said.

Two other Italian ships lay off Deal for a day or two, but left today with pilots aboard for a northern British port.

Shipping circles expressed belief they were going to pick up cargoes of British coal for Italy, although the British and Italian governments are at odds over the question of supplying Italy's coal needs from British mines.

Britain wants manufactured Italian products, such as arms, rather than agricultural products in exchange for such coal. British credits for export of coal to Italy were said, however, to have been available for some time, so that Italy could obtain the British coal now and settle later on what Britain is to get in exchange.

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

ROME, March 6.—A nation-wide anti-British campaign may be Italy's first retort to the British seizure of Italian ships bringing coal from Germany.

Italian quarters had been astonished by the news that Italian ships were being diverted to a British contraband control station, and it was apparent that the atmosphere as regards the coal dispute had changed suddenly and radically.

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

BERLIN, March 6—Headlines such as "piracy" "robbery" and "theft against Italy" in German newspapers left no doubt today about German reaction to British seizure of the Italian coal ships.

The German press based its comment on the incident to suggest that Great Britain had revived the Mediterranean problem which caused it much anxiety during the Italian Ethiopian war.

City Constructs Aircraft Wharf At Cooking Lake

Construction of the new aircraft landing wharf at Cooking Lake seaplane base has started and is expected to be finished at the end of the week, it was reported Wednesday by City Engineer A. W. Haddow.

The new wharf, being built at a cost of $2,000, will be 255 feet long and 16 feet wide. It will extend to water five feet deep and will be just south of the present slip.

Piles are being driven eight to 10 feet into the lake bottom, and the top of the wharf will be about 30 inches above the lake surface.

The number seeking the provincial seats was boosted by four Tuesday as four Social Credit and one C.C.F. entries were added, while in the Dominion field one New Democracy (Social Credit) and one Independent were added. The C.C.F. entry, however, did not change the total, as it was a transfer to C.C.F. from another slate.

C. C. F.	35
Liberals	3

Deadline for nominations are expected this week.

Both provincial and Dominion nominations close at 2 p.m. Monday next, March 11, after which returning officers will officially announce the candidates.

LAPOINTE BEST TO ENFORCE ACT SAYS COLDWELL

HAMILTON, Ont., March 6.—M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, declared in an address here last night that there would be little threat to democratic liberty in the Defence of Canada regulations if enforcement were in the hands of the Dominion minister of justice, Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe.

"He's a kindly and gentle man and I wouldn't be sorry if Lapointe were enforcing them, but he's not," Mr. Coldwell said. "Enforcement is in the hands of provincial attorneys-general and in some provinces the enforcement is harsh and not in keeping with democratic ideals.

"As a democrat, I would prefer any other province to Ontario at present."

Young American Found In C.A.S.F.

WINDSOR, Ont., March 6—Dewitt Smith, Jr., 19-year-old Maryland University student killed by his parents since January, signed up with a group of recruits for the Canadian army here on Jan. 15, giving the name of "John Hare," it was learned yesterday. The boy gave his age as 22 when he enlisted.

United Dominion Is Envisioned By Hon. E. Lapointe

REGINA, March 6 — A united Canada with "two languages but with one heart" was the ideal placed before a group of French-speaking residents of Saskatchewan by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, federal minister of justice, when he addressed a meeting here yesterday.

He told of the ideals he had fought for to build up in Canada a spirit of unity and loyalty.

Former Headmaster of Harrow Sees Finish of British Public Schools

LONDON, March 6.—Thousands of conservative Britons today read with dismay reports that the war may force extinction of "the public school."

In hundreds of homes breakfast bacon turned cold as loyal wearers of "the old school tie" read gloomy accounts predicting the end of the traditional system that is public in name only.

Most prominent of those whose predictions were printed Sir Cyril Norwood, former headmaster of Harrow, which shares honors with Eton as one of the most aristocratic schools.

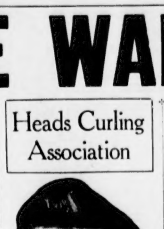

Sir Cyril was reported to have told Royal Air Force officers in France that the public schools "have done their job and produced their leaders but after the war it will be found that their day is done."

The abolition of war taxation would result in an insufficient number of parents "who can afford to pay £200 ($800) a year for the education of a single boy," said the former headmaster.

But to preserve the schools in modified form—since "it would be folly to abolish them"—he suggested government control and scholarships.

"Life should be simpler and less costly," he said. "The boys should carry out more services such as blacking their own shoes and making their own beds."

Britain Demands Full Equality In Rumanian Exports

BUCHAREST, March 6.—Great Britain has demanded full equality with Germany in sharing Rumanian exports, including oil, a high authority said today.

The British demand, said to have brought Rumanian Minister Viorel Tilea here from London, is believed in diplomatic quarters to have been prompted by the Allies' resolve to cut deeply into German sources of supply in this country.

These quarters see Rumania being pushed closer to an inevitable choice between Germany and the Allies, as experts say it would be impossible for Rumania to furnish Germany with 1,500,000 tons of oil contracted for in 1940 and send an equal quantity to Britain.

Less than 4,000,000 tons of oil will be available for export this year, according to experts, leaving only 800,000 tons if British needs are met along with Germany's. That would mean Rumania's trade with the Balkans, Italy and many other countries—based on the exchange of Rumanian oil for foreign products—would dwindle.

German pressure for more Rumanian goods was also said to be increasing, with a demand that Rumania ship her entire 1940 wool crop to Germany. Rumanian acceptance of this demand would wreck the native yara industry.

WINNING WAR IS REAL ISSUE OF ELECTION

Drew States Democracy Must Be Preserved At Home As Well

CALGARY, March 6.—"The real issue in the Federal election is to win this war and to preserve Democracy in Canada as well," Lt.-Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, told an audience of 1,000 here last night.

His two-hour speech was filled with charges of war contract inefficiency, and with charges of dictatorial radio censorship applied by the King government.

RAPS CENSORSHIP

Hugh C. Farthing, K.C., Calgary East Conservative candidate, also brought charges of "tyrannical censorship" against radio regulations, when he read to the audience 300 words which he said had been deleted from his radio address by a Calgary radio station manager Tuesday afternoon.

Col. D. G. L. Cunnington, Calgary West federal candidate, and Dr. G. D. Stanley, ex-M.P., also addressed the meeting prior to Col. Drew's arrival.

Col. Drew charged that had the King government not rejected a proposal of the British war office to establish British air training schools in Canada in 1937, Prime Minister Chamberlain's hand would have been greatly strengthened at Munich. Additional strengthening of the British air force which this plan might have made possible, might have made permanent peace possible, he claimed.

Statement of Prime Minister King that he had not rejected a British proposal for establishing such schools in 1937 was not correct, said the Ontario Conservative leader. Mr. King had said there must be no military establishments in Canada except those under the exclusive control of the Dominion government.

SEES ECONOMIC LOSS

"Canada should have been prepared to set aside some of our vast territories to train British pilots—who would have been protecting us," he said.

"It is no secret now that when Chamberlain and Daladier met Hitler at Munich, one problem that faced the British and French was that they did not have an adequate number of trained pilots."

It was almost impossible to train sufficient pilots in Britain, he added, so Britain did not have the air power at the time of Munich which would have had had she been granted the privilege of training pilots in Canada.

He also spoke on the economic consequences of Canada's "failure" in the loss of an aircraft industry.

In the review of reasons denying the causes for which Mackenzie King had said he dissolved parliament, Col. Drew claimed that the real reason for dissolution was that the Prime Minister did not want certain war contracts discussed in parliament.

RUSS ATTACKS OVER VIIPURI BAY REPULSED

Finns Fend Off Another Assault Against Beleaguered Coast City

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE, JR.
British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

HELSINKI, March 6—The Red army tonight held all the Finnish islands that form "stepping stones" across the Bay of Viipuri in readiness against the western shore in an effort to turn the right flank of the Mannerheim defenses.

Finnish advices said that the Russians had seized three small bridgeheads on the west shore of the bay but that Finnish troops had surrounded the Russian forces at those points on the mainland and expected to defeat them quickly.

HELSINKI, March 6. — Red army attacks across frozen Viipuri Bay were reported by the Finnish high command today to have been repulsed, fending off another assault against the beleaguered coastal city.

Aircraft, tanks and artillery supported the Russian thrust across the ice, but the Finns turned back the attack. The Red army also attacked in force at many land points on the Viipuri sector between the bay and the Vuoksi, but the Finns said all attacks were repulsed.

"Heaps of Russian dead," in front of the Finnish positions were described by a Finnish high command communique which said "dozens of tanks" were destroyed.

The eastern end of the Isthmus front, where the Finnish lines have stood firm against continued Russian pounding, saw lively artillery activity and farther north in the Kuhmo sector Russian attacks were repulsed, the Finns reported.

Soviet air raids behind the lines killed 40 persons and wounded many others during attacks yesterday on Mikkeli, Lahtis and Kouvola, the enemy raiders were shot down during the forays, the Finns said, adding their own air force "undertook numerous sallies" and bombing flights in support of our land operations."

Interest Rate On War Loan Brings Editorial Warning

LONDON, March 6.—In commenting on the government's first war loan of £300,000,000 ($1,355,000,000) the Daily Herald said it regrets "that so high a rate of interest (three per cent) is being offered to wealthy lenders."

"Montagu Norman and Sir John Simon have stepped much too near the slippery slope of dear money with this loan.

"We say to them: 'Stop before it is too late'."

Ore Not Halted

LONDON, March 6—Great Britain has taken no steps to halt the transport of Swedish iron ore to Germany, Winston Churchill, First Lord of The Admiralty, told the House of Commons today.

MANION IDEA HODGE-PODGE CRERAR SAYS

Federal Minister Of Mines Speaks At Red Deer Meeting

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

RED DEER, March 6.—Formation of a "national government" as suggested by Conservative Leader Hon. R. J. Manion would result in a "hodge-podge" rather than in a government with unity of purpose and action, Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of mines, told a meeting Tuesday night in the Crescent theatre

Mr. Crerar, speaking on behalf of the Liberal candidate in the Red Deer federal riding, A. C. Bury, of Olds, said the plea to form a national government was "Dr. Manion's trump card, though a few months ago he was opposed, and I believe wisely so, to any such governmental."

WHO IN GOVERNMENT?

"Who would be in this government? If the C.C.F. are represented, they are opposed to conscription. The New Democracy is for conscription. How will Dr. Manion reconcile those two?" asked Mr. Crerar.

"This is a time when experience and wise counsel are needed, rather than inexperience and vague generalities about action," he commented.

Pointing out the high place Prime Minister Mackenzie King holds in the regard of statesmen in all parts of the Commonwealth, Mr. Crerar added that if these Commonwealth leaders were asked who Dr. Manion was, they would not know the answer.

NON-PARTISAN

"The Liberal government has been non-partisan in making its appointments, and many of the leading and most responsible war positions in Canada are being filled by men opposed to us in a political way," declared Mr. Crerar.

Reviewing briefly the record of the Liberal government prior to the war, Mr. Crerar said no government had given such concrete proof of its devotion to the needs of western agriculture and the expansion of trade.

The meeting also was addressed by A. C. Bury, and Max Freedman, of Edmonton.

Glad you dropped in for tea, sir.

94 NOMINATED IN QUEBEC WITH FIVE DAYS LEFT

MONTREAL, March 6.—Quebec province is proceeding slowly with the nomination of candidates.

Five days from official nomination day, only 94 candidates have entered the fight for the 65 Quebec seats in the House of Commons. In the general elections of 1935 there were 213 contestants.

So far, 45 Liberal candidates have been named, with the Conservative Party's 31 National Government candidates next in line. There are four Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidates, six Independents, three Independent Liberals, two Social Credit, one Communist, one Labor and one Independent Conservative.

A flood of nominations is expected before the end of the week, since both the Liberals and Conservatives have signified their intention of contesting all the seats.

EUROPEAN ROUND-UP

By Canadian Press

LONDON: Two more Italian colliers detained, bringing total to nine; war office communique says stricter controls making after Italian man raid on a British sector of the Maginot line.

ARUBA, Netherlands West Indies, German freighter Seattle, laden with lumber, reported intercepted by Allied patrols.

HELSINKI: Russian army attacks across ice on Viipuri Bay repulsed.

AMSTERDAM: Netherlands submarine rammed and sunk by tug; two dead.

DUTCH ANGER SOARS AGAINST NAZI ATTACKS

AMSTERDAM, March 6—Fresh German troops and tank units were reported massing in border territory facing the Netherlands as an angered public demanded vigorous government action in protest against Nazi air attacks on defenceless Dutch ships.

Dispatches from frontier towns said an entire German armored division had arrived at Wesel, Westphalia, on the Rhine about 27 miles from the eastern border of the Dutch province of Gelderland. Such a division usually comprises between 400 and 475 tanks, 3,000 other war vehicles and 11,000 men.

Numerous additional tank units were reported to have arrived at other points in this zone.

Fear that the coming of spring will be marked by a German drive across the lowland countries and Nazi activities upon the frontiers have increased tension throughout the Dutch frontier regions during recent days.

The bombing and machine-gunning of at least eight Dutch ships in two days by Nazi warplanes has provoked widespread anger.

In violent attacks against the Reich, the press charged the attacks were the opening phase of a German campaign to stop all seagoing traffic between The Netherlands and Great Britain.

SHORTAGE OF BLUE PENCILS HITS CENSORS

LONDON, March 6.—A sudden shortage of blue pencils for censors threatened to hold up war news last night.

Officials of the British Press and Censorship Bureau vainly combed stores for new supplies. The crisis was averted when a big stock of the instruments essential to word destruction was found in the store-rooms of London University, where the censorship bureau operates.

Search Of U.S. Mail At Bermuda Termed Justified

LONDON, March 6.—Richard Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, told a questioner in the House of Commons today that the action of the authorities in Bermuda searching mails carried by United States steamship Excalibur flying Dutch was correct "and moreover was justified by what was discovered in the mail."

He said that under international law a belligerent is at liberty to examine any mail, whether neutral or belligerent, found in a neutral vessel within its jurisdiction.

British Blue Book Will Not Be Published

British United Press

LONDON, March 6—The long-heralded government white book on Anglo-British-Russian negotiations for a non-aggression pact will not be published, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons today.

Mr. Chamberlain said the decision had been made after further consultations with and in agreement with France, also a participant in the Moscow negotiations, whom were immediately abruptly when Russia and Germany signed a non-aggression pact.

Asked if the blue book would be published later he replied: "I will confine myself to saying that it is not our intention to publish the blue book at present."

Italian Students In Anti-British Demonstrations

British United Press

FLORENCE, Italy, March 6.—In the first anti-British demonstrations since the Ethiopian war, a large crowd of Italian High school and University students gathered before the British Consulate today to protest the British blockade.

Police and armed carabinieri, hurriedly called to the scene, dispersed the students.

NEW LOAN TO SHOW BRITISH WILL TO WIN

Success Will Impress On Enemies Determination For War Triumph

LONDON, March 6—Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, explaining Britain's new £300,000,000 ($1,335,000,000) war loan in a broadcast last night, said that its success, in addition to helping the Allies substantially, would impress on foreign countries, and above all on Germany the United Kingdom's determination to carry the war to a finish.

Sir John said the war has been carried on only by cutting down proceeds of the heavy taxation imposed in the war budget of last September and imposition of new taxes from the "very successful" war savings campaign which has produced £100,000,000 in 100 days.

"We wish to supplement these resources by this first big loan of the war, which will no doubt be followed hereafter by others," he said. "There will be widespread interest at home and abroad in our effort and our success will be a factor of considerable consequence in knowing our allies and enemies alike how firm is the confidence of this country."

The chancellor of the exchequer said everyone subscribing to the new loan "is striking a blow for our cause and giving substantial help to our men in the forces."

POLICE GUARD RICH PIONEER GOLD MINE

British United Press

PIONEER, B.C., March 6—Provincial police today guarded the rich Pioneer gold mine which was to resume operations today after a shutdown because of a strike.

Forty miners last week ended a 61-hour sitdown demonstration 2,600 feet underground without gaining their demands.

A spokesman for the Mill, Mine and Smeltermen's (C.I.O.) Union warned that the shutdown would result in bloodshed. The union called 450 men out of the mine last October after demands for union recognition and wage increases had been refused.

Dr. Howard James, managing director of the Pioneer Mine Co., said between 80 and 90 men who had not struck would resume operations today. He said he did not expect any violence, but additional provincial police arrived in the area today.

Dutch Submarine Sinks Following Collision: 2 Dead

British United Press

AMSTERDAM, Holland, March 6.—The Dutch submarine O-11 sank today after colliding with a naval tug boat off the Helder naval base. Two members of the submarine's crew were drowned.

The Dutch defense craft was described as a home service submarine having a surface displacement of 483 tons. It carried a crew of 29 men and was armed with one 3.3-inch gun, a machine gun and five torpedo tubes.

After the collision, the O-11 sank, then made the surface under its own power. The crew poured out of the conning tower and all two had been able to reach safely when it sank again.

General Warning Issued Neutrals By Nazi Officials

British United Press

BERLIN, March 6.—The German government issued officially a general warning to neutrals that Germany will not accept responsibility for the sinking by German planes of neutral vessels being forced into enemy ports for examination and control. Previously authoritative German quarters warned that ships or any nationality proceeding voluntarily or by force to enemy ports or enemy contraband control stations might be sunk by German submarines or warplanes.

Today's warning was issued in the form of a statement to the press.

Wells Takes Peek At Most Peaceful Region of Europe—No Man's Land

Everett R. Holles, of the British United Press "war desk" in New York, is the only Press Association correspondent accompanying Sumner Welles on his tour of investigation in Europe. In the following dispatch, Holles gives a picture of Welles' first look at the Western front and of what you would see if you looked across the foothights at the world's greatest military arena.—EDITOR.

By EVERETT R. HOLLES

British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, March 6.—Riding through the Siegfried line en route from Berlin to Switzerland, Sumner Welles, United States undersecretary of state, has seen one of the most peaceful regions of Europe. It is called "No Man's Land".

Within rifle range of the French lines, German soldiers hung out washing Sunday. Is wash day on the front, too—and farmers tended their fields. Children played in village streets; traffic moved at a leisurely pace and not a shot was fired.

Between Friedsburg and Basle the west wall looked more like a gigantic W.P.A. project than one of the mightiest chains of fortifications ever built. Hundreds of thousands of men worked with shovels and concrete mixers, reinforcing and digging. Many appeared to be Polish prisoners, moved pedestrians, to the western front as labor corps.

WORKERS SCREENED

The workers were screened, as were all roads paralleling the Rhine on the German side, not to hide the objectives but to prevent any trigger-nervous Frenchmen taking pot shots at pedestrians. Huge screens are lath-like fences, six feet high, resembling American snow fences.

Frontier villages had been evacuated in the early days of the war but the civilians had straggled back and factories had opened for mining at top speed. Bedding hung from upstairs windows, shoppers were in the streets. Outside the towns, farmers working at their crops and soldiers building new fortifications were the only signs of war.

To all railway stations near the front there were crowds of German soldiers in hob-nailed boots and trench caps, their heavy helmets dangling from packs on their backs. These were replacements, not reinforcements. Because no soldiers were kept on the warless front for long periods of time. Some carried bandages in their hands though they were on a day's outing.

There were no anti-tank barriers except at villages, but it was said that the fields were covered with mines. Outside an improvised barracks at a small town north of Mulheim soldiers were drilling in a soggy field.

There were no airplanes, no signs of ammunition, even ground, no shell craters in the earth.

COMRADERIE DISCOURAGED

At some places, French and German soldiers worked in plain view of one another. A German official aboard the train said they sometimes called back and forth across the river although such comraderie with the enemy was discouraged.

German officers, asked if they expected a push along the West Wall, shrugged their shoulders and smiled, but most of them seemed to convey the impression that something big was expected soon.

RAT DROPS OUT OF JAILHOUSE ON PARACHUTE

MIAMI, Fla., March 6.—A live rat, hung on an improvised parachute, floated down the courthouse wall yesterday. Attached was a note: "This jail is full of rats." But the rat-borne plea for plainer failed to say which jail he was in. The city jail is on the 16th to 19th floors, and the county jail on the 20th to 26th.

COLDWELL ASKS INSURANCE FOR ALL SOLDIERS

HAMILTON, Ont., March 6.—A bond or insurance policy to guarantee post-war security to each soldier, or to his dependents, should be given every man enlisting in the Canadian army, air force or navy, M. J. Coldwell, national chairman of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, urged here last night.

Mr. Coldwell spoke to 300 people at a meeting in the interests of Alderman Roy Aindow, C.C.F. candidate in Hamilton East. He outlined the conditions of transient, single unemployed in Canada in pre-war days and compared it with the "well-fed, well-clothed and well-housed state today" of those Canadians who have enlisted.

Young men offering their services today would never be content to return to the economic insecurity that was an unavoidable evil in the present system, said Mr. Coldwell. They would demand that a nation that could maintain them in war provide for them in peace.

Stuart Garson, provincial treasurer, stated in the Manitoba legislature yesterday that the government proposed to introduce amendments to the Manitoba debtors' relief law which would be along the lines of Saskatchewan's Debt Relief Act, known as the Limitation of Certain Civil Rights Act.

Soviet Apologizes For Bombing Pajala

STOCKHOLM, March 6—An official announcement yesterday said the Russian government had handed the Swedish legation in Moscow a note apologizing for the bombing of Pajala, Swedish town near the Finnish border, on Feb. 21, by Red Army fliers. Previously the Soviet government informally had denied the bombing.

FIRE DESTROYS TIMBER PILES AT WINFIELD

17,000,000 Feet Of Freshly Cut Timber Threatened For Time

WINFIELD, March 6. — Huge log piles valued at $200,000 and containing 17,000,000 feet of lumber were threatened by fire which attacked the winter's cut of Etter-McDougall sawmills, 30 miles west of here. It was reported extinguished on Wednesday morning.

The blaze was brought under control late Tuesday night by a squad of 100 men, but was not altogether extinguished, and a crew was left watching it and working to put it out Wednesday.

Damage ran over $8,000 and it was reported 1,000,000 feet of logs were destroyed.

Plans were made to rush an Edmonton fire engine to the scene and Fire Captain W. H. Ferguson flew in a chartered plane to look over the scene. He reported that the fire engine would not be needed.

In the plane, which was chartered from Canadian Airways and piloted by North Sawle, was John A. McDougall, partner in the lumber company, who remained at the scene Wednesday.

CREW CALLED OUT

The blaze was first noticed by the mill fireman, "Highball" Mackay, at 10 a.m. Monday. He called out the crew and, to get at fire-fighting equipment, they were forced to break into the shed of Fire Ranger T. Somers at Alder Flats.

The ranger was not at home but on Tuesday had returned and organized the mill crew and others from the district into an efficient fire-fighting company of 100 men, with a caterpillar tractor and 30 horses.

WAR EFFORT IS ATTACKED BY STEVENS

Conservative Says Plans Are Poorly Handled By Government

WINNIPEG, March 6—Hon. H. H. Stevens, cabinet member in the former Conservative government of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, last night charged in an election campaign address that the war effort of the present Liberal administration was marked by inefficiency, ineptitude and waste.

One of the worst examples of government waste was the purchasing of 160 acres of land in Ontario from three "Friends of the Liberal party" for $88,000, Mr. Stevens continued. He said the land, required for a rifle range, had been assessed for $9,000.

ONLY FEW ACRES USED

Only a few acres of the land were used and the balance was leased back to the former owners for a rental of $2,000 a year, he charged.

In Halifax, he continued, the Arcadia Construction Company had obtained a contract to build airport runways. The contract stipulated that new equipment was to be used, among it was a rock crusher to be hired for $450 a day. He declared the contractor moved in a broken down machine which took four weeks to repair and the government paid the cost of repairing it plus $450 a day.

The engineer in charge refused to pass upon this deal and was replaced, the former engineer charged.

Supplying of clothing to soldiers had been hopelessly mismanaged. In Toronto, enlisted men had to sleep on newspapers because no cots were available, Mr. Stevens said.

Hepburn Said Party To Canada Betrayal With Loose Charges

OTTAWA, March 6.—Denying charges of Premier Hepburn of Ontario that there have been "violent disturbances" at the Royal Canadian Air Force school at St. Thomas, Ont., Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of national defence, said last night that each time the premier "indulges his flair for abuse and for groundless statement, for loose and violent speech, he is a party to the betrayal of Canada."

The defence minister urged Premier Hepburn to visit the air school in company with newspaper men to inquire into the situation so "the entire subject may then be given full public discussion and the conditions at the school reported as the press sees them."

Text of the minister's statement released here on authority of Mr. Rogers who is at Fredericton, said:

It is high time that a halt be called to the wild and fantastic utterances being made by Dr. Manion (Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, National Conservative leader), Premier Hepburn, Col. Drew (Lieut.-Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader), and others.

"ABSOLUTELY UNTRUE"

I do not know if these men realize what they are doing. I cannot bring myself to believe that any man who calls himself a Canadian would vent this constant stream of reckless groundless charges, realizing the implications, as any responsible citizen must.

Each time Premier Hepburn indulges his flair for abuse and for groundless statement, for loose and violent speech, he is a party to the betrayal of Canada.

Premier Hepburn charges there have been riots among airmen at St. Thomas. There have been none.

He says 300 men marched into town and that it took military police three days to round them up. That is absolutely untrue.

He says the St. Thomas paper wanted to publish the story but that the censors refused to let them do so. That also is untrue.

Mr. Hepburn challenges me to deny that we gave these alleged rioters blanket leave for the period of their absence. This too is sheer fabrication. There were no rioters, no blanket leave.

TIME TO DESIST

It is high time for Premier Hepburn, for the good of all loyal Canadians everywhere, to desist from his intemperate abuse.

Airmen have been working two shifts at the St. Thomas school. One of these shifts is off duty in the afternoon and its members have always been at liberty to go into the town in their free hours. These casual visitors, seeking simple relaxation from their duties in the cafes and movies of the town must be the rioters airmen Mr. Hepburn has in mind.

I will make Premier Hepburn an offer, purely in the interests of Canadians, in the hope that it will bring him down to earth at last. Let him visit the air school at St. Thomas. At the same time we will make arrangements for such representatives of the press as desire to go along to be in attendance. He and they may ask all the questions they like. The doors will be open. The entire subject may then be given full public discussion and the conditions at this school reported as the press sees them.

Charges Made By Ontario's Premier

TORONTO, March 6.—Premier Hepburn charged yesterday that Canadian censorship has "covered up" what he described as a "violent disturbance" at the Royal Canadian Air Force station near St. Thomas, Ont., where airmen in training had become "fed-up and disgusted with doing nothing but shining door knobs and polishing floors."

The premier, annoyed, he said, by criticism of Dominion government officials against Mr. Hepburn's ban on the "March of Time" film 'Canada at War," told newspapermen he was "reporting" news of the "violent disturbance" on his own responsibility as premier of Ontario. He challenged Defence Minister Rogers to deny the story and dared the censors to prevent its publication.

Newspaper Report On Air Training Centre

TORONTO, March 6.—Following is the report published on Saturday, Feb. 10, by the St. Thomas Times-Journal in connection with the "C.A.F. training centre there: It covers the alleged "violent disturbance" charged by Premier Hepburn.

"A new system of 'leaves' was introduced at the No. 1 technical training centre of the R.C.A.F. here on Saturday, with the result that early Saturday afternoon, Talbot street was aswarm with airmen. The large number of men on the streets gave rise to rumors that the men were 'A.W.O.L.' but such was not the case.

NEW SYSTEM

"According to officials at the school, the new system of granting leaves was brought in after a decision reached on Friday and made effective Saturday for the first time. The new system was necessitated by introduction of the two school shifts, one working during daytime hours, the other during evening and night hours. When classes were being taught only during daytime hours leaves were given under what was known as the color card system, and this did not work satisfactorily when the double-shift was introduced.

"Under the new system, one of the shifts will have leave every afternoon between the hours of 12 noon and 3:30 or 4 p.m. The other shift will have leave every evening commencing at 8 and ending at 10 or 10:30 p.m. Under the old system men in the ranks only had two evenings a week until 1 a.m.

AUTHORITY OF OFFICER

"The Times-Journal has the authority of an officer at the training centre for the statement that the men on leave in town Saturday have no reason to expect C.B. It was also given to understand that leave tickets will henceforth only be issued under exceptional circumstances, those being special late leave and week-end passes. Military police were in town on Saturday earlier than usual for the simple reason that prior to today there had been no afternoon leaves."

Today the Times-Journal added the following statement:

"We had no communication, direct or otherwise, with the censors at Ottawa or Toronto, either before publication or afterwards. We felt at the time, and still do, that what we published covered the situation and did not conflict with the general censorship regulations."

TORONTO, March 6 — Premier Mitchell Hepburn said today he was accepting the invitation of Defence Minister Norman Rogers to visit the Royal Canadian Air Force training centre at St. Thomas and that he would demand a full inquiry into alleged disturbances there

ALL SOCRED CANDIDATES NOW CHOSEN

One Federal, Four Provincial Contestants Named At Rycroft

Social Credit nominations in the provincial general election of March 21 and the Dominion election of March 26—in which Social Credit candidates are running under the New Democracy banner—were completed at Rycroft on Tuesday when the advisory board selected four provincial candidates and one Dominion.

This gives the Social Credit party a total of 56 candidates seeking seats in 49 ridings. There are 57 seats in the legislature. Edmonton and Calgary are five-member constituencies and while five were nominated in the city, four were entered in Calgary.

NEW DEMOCRACY

Social Credit had named 17 candidates for that number of Alberta seats in parliament and these candidates will contest the seats under the banner of New Democracy.

Candidates elected by the advisory board Tuesday were:

Grouard: J. A. Maurice.

Grande Prairie: William Sharpe.

Peace River: W. J. Lampley.

Spirit River: H. E. DeBolt.

Peace River (Dominion Constituency): Lieut. Rene Pelletier.

Mr. Sharpe was the member for Grande Prairie in the legislature dissolved Feb. 15 and Mr. Lampley was the member for Peace River and Lieut. Pelletier was the parliamentary member for Peace River. These three are defending their seats.

NEW CANDIDATES

Two new candidates appear. In Grouard Mr. Maurice is seeking to win the seat from the Liberals and to defeat a C.C.F. candidate. Mr. Maurice has been general secretary of the Alberta Social Credit League for the last four years and is widely known in the north country. His command of the French language is a valuable asset with the large northern Alberta French-speaking population, it is claimed.

Contesting the Spirit River constituency for Social Credit is H. E. DeBolt, a well known resident of the area. This is a new member who formed as a result of the redistribution plan which goes into effect in this election and which reduces the number of members in the legislature from 63 to 57.

Representing the cabinet on the advisory board were Premier Aberhart, Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, and Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines.

LEAGUE REPRESENTATIVES

Alberta Social Credit League representatives on the board were Elzear Batt, president, and A. E. Goodwin, past president. In addition there were from seven to 12 zone organizers from each constituency.

Following the selection of candidates a public meeting was held in the evening at which Premier Aberhart, Messrs. Fallow and Tanner and all five candidates selected spoke.

Compulsory Army Service Is Only For South Africa

CAPE TOWN, March 6—Prime Minister Jan Smuts announced in the South African assembly yesterday that compulsory military service would be applicable only inside South Africa.

He said that the government policy was to use volunteers if it became necessary to defend British African territories north of the Union.

Airman Decorated

Flight-Lieutenant Robert Jeff, R.A.F. fighter pilot serving in France, is pictured here receiving the Croix de Guerre from General Vuillemin, Commander of the French Air Force, for courageously attacking two German bombers in the north of France. Three Teams of Dogs To Bring Fliers' Bodies From Labrador Wilderness

The following account of preparations for the removal of the bodies of three Quebec province men lost in the Labrador woods was wirelessed to The Canadian Press by R. L. Stevenson, wireless operator at Hopedale, Labrador, who had visited the lonely cabin where the three were found dead.—EDITOR.

BY R. L. STEVENSON

HOPEDALE, Labrador, March 6.—(Via wireless)—Three teams of husky dogs, each drawing a sled bearing a rough-hewn coffin, started out from here last night for the isolated trapline shack where three Quebec province men perished of hunger after their airplane came down last fall in the Labrador bush.

The bodies of pilot Joseph Fecteau of Montreal and the two men he was flying on an ill-fated timber inspection trip will be brought back to this community, 350 miles up the Labrador coast from the Strait of Belle Isle. From here, they will be flown back to Quebec.

The coffins that will enclose the bodies of Fecteau, G. H. Davidson of Montreal and J. C. Cote of Beaumont, Que., were made here in Hopedale. Roger Bragg of the Newfoundland constabulary, in charge of investigating the deaths of the men in the bush 70 miles west of Little Harbor, supervised the work.

Besides transporting the bodies, the dogsled teams will bring out the personal effects of the party found at the cabin by Trapper Jerome Mc-Neill and his two sons, whose discovery last Thursday ended the long search for the missing men.

Communist Party Offices Raided In Winnipeg Tuesday

WINNIPEG, March 6—Royal Canadian Mounted Police and city police yesterday raided Communist party offices in Winnipeg and later announced a number of persons had been taken into custody. Several copies of the Mid-West Clarion and records of the party were seized.

Police said they had taken into custody for investigation John Weir, described as one of the editors of the Mid-West Clarion, Communist publication, which was banned in Ontario. No charges have been laid, said police who did not divulge the names of others questioned.

STATESMEN'S SNAPSHOTS

Every leader the Conservative Party has known since Confederation, has been intimately known by Hon. Charles Hazlett Cahan, B.A., LL.B., LL.D., K.C., the versatile and effective member of the House of Commons for Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George riding, a riding he has represented since 1925 when he defeated Sir Herbert Marler.

A staunch Conservative, he has never-the-less plowed a lone furrow in Canada's political life. While relentlessly time and again his staunch adhesion to his party, he has at times been its severest critic.

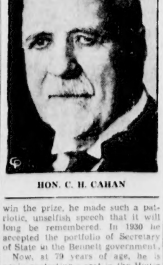

Born in Yarmouth, N.S., in 1861, he has crowded his years with an extraordinary diversity of activity. Rarely can the word versatility be so aptly applied, nor can such a wide range of experience be recounted in one life.

He has learned a great deal about people. Not only as Canada's Secretary of State but by living in Halifax, Port of Spain, Montreal, Mexico, London, Berlin, Paris, New York, Geneva and Ottawa. He has done business in all of them.

Like so many Canadian politicians he studied law. Upon graduating from Dalhousie University, where he was a brilliant student, he became a reporter and shortly afterwards, editor of The Halifax Herald. At 29 he was elected to the legislature and almost at once was paper leader of the opposition. He was also Conservative organizer for Nova Scotia.

He graduated to federal politics once, finally won one of the Montreal seats in 1925.

In 1928, when the Conservative party gathered in Winnipeg to select a new leader, one of the most frequently mentioned prospects was Charles H. Cahan. While he did not win the prize, he made such a patriotic, unselfish speech that it will long be remembered. In 1930 he accepted the portfolio of Secretary of State in the Bennett government.

Now, at 79 years of age, he is again contesting a seat in the House of Commons.

FILM IS BANNED THROUGH FEAR OF EXPOSURE

Picture Would Disprove Charges Against War Effort Says Howe

HALIBURTON, Ont., March 6.—Permission to show the March of Time film production, "Canada At War", was refused in Ontario by the same persons whose criticism of the war effort precipitated the Federal election, Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, said last night in an election campaign address in this eastern Ontario village.

Permission to show the film apparently was refused because the provincial leaders did not want their critical statements disproved by photographs, Mr. Howe asserted. They did not want the people to see well-clothed and well-equipped Canadian troops after declaring them to be ill-clothed and poorly equipped.

NO BETTER RIFLES

"Col. Drew made the statement they were supplied with obsolete rifles but I say there is no better rifle known than the Lee Enfield, with which the troops have been supplied and of which Canada has a conservable supply. We set the objective of making the Canadian troops the best-dressed and best-cared-for in the world and I think we are succeeding."

There is no censorship on the radio in Canada, Mr. Howe said. Politicians giving speeches over private radio stations were asked by the station owners to submit copies of their addresses in advance for the protection of the owner, who is responsible for the statements made over his station. The owners studied the script and had an opportunity to check with the censors if they felt parts were offensive.

Speaking in the interests of Bruce McNevin, Liberal member of the last Parliament for Victoria and candidate in the election March 26, Mr. Howe said that 12,000 persons are employed in Canada in airplane construction. He credited development of the Trans-Canada air lines with stepping up plane production.

CAREFUL PURCHASING

"Canada's war supply board is making a careful study of all contracts to be awarded and is exercising the utmost vigilance in purchase of the best materials."

Vast amounts of war materials already purchased had not been tainted with graft, he said. The board was trying to distribute the contracts throughout Canada to the benefit of all.

"Canadians must remember that there is a limit to our resources, necessitating the importance of remembering our ability to pay. Nevertheless, we have always taken the attitude that it is not how little we can do but how much."

EQUIPMENT OF C.A.S.F. RANKS AS BEST USED

Rogers Says Government Not Afraid To Show People Record

FREDERICTON, March 6.—Defending the government's war policy in a speech here last night, the defence minister, Hon. Norman Rogers, claimed that "no Canadian force ever left this country better clothed and better equipped than the first division now overseas."

"As a government we do not fear to put our record before the people," he said. He did not mean, he said, that the government had been infallible, but the people had no reason to believe that a government under the Conservative leader, Hon. R. J. Manion, would have made fewer mistakes than the one in power

Mr. Rogers referred to Premier Hepburn's ban on the film 'Canada at War."

"The picture has been refused a showing in Ontario presumably because the premier of Ontario felt that it told too much. A few months ago he criticized us because he said we told too little."

Credit for the almost unanimous declaration of war by parliament belonged to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and not to Premier Hepburn, Col. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, or Dr. Manion, stated the defence minister.

"Do you think for a moment that we could have put through expenditures of from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 for military equipment during peace time?" he asked in speaking about the government's pre-war activities.

16 BRITISHERS ARE CAPTURED IN NAZI RAID

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

BERLIN, March 6—The Nazis claimed in official press dispatches today to have captured 16 British prisoners in a surprise raid on the Western Front yesterday.

The Berlin newspaper report said that the prisoners, a sergeant and 15 men of the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry regiment, were the first British army prisoners to fall into German hands, except for one British officer whom the Nazis claimed was captured earlier in the war but died of wounds enroute to hospital.

According to Berlin reports the British prisoners were taken in the Mersig sector of the Western Front. "This would mean that British troops were in the Saar area, close to the Luxemburg frontier. It was believed to be the first supposedly authentic disclosure of British troop positions.

Meanwhile correspondents with the British Expeditionary Forces in France were authorized by field censors to release a headquarters statement on the capture.

In its first communique on war action, the British general headquarters announced:

"A raid took place this morning against a post in the British front line and the enemy succeeded in capturing some prisoners.

"The post was recaptured, the enemy retired leaving one dead. Two British soldiers were killed and one wounded."

M. A. MacPherson Contests Federal Riding Of Regina

REGINA, March 6—Hon. M. A. MacPherson, former Conservative cabinet minister, provided a surprise to the federal election picture in Saskatchewan yesterday by announcing that he would contest the Regina riding.

Alderman T. G. McNall, Regina wholesaler who previously was chosen Conservative nominee is withdrawing in favor of Mr. MacPherson.

D. A. McNiven, Liberal, member of the last parliament, and J. O. Probe, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, and George H. Hart, New Democracy are already in the field.

Germany Is Using Big Leipzig Spring Fair to Sell Nazi Propaganda

BY ALVIN STEINKOPF
Associated Press Staff Writer

LEIPZIG, March 6.—The Leipzig spring fair, with vast quantities of German manufactured goods on sale to foreigners but not to Germans, is aimed at selling propaganda along with the Reich's industrial products.

To foreigners visiting the exposition Germany is reiterating the Nazi theme that Germany will win the war. Visitors, particularly from southeastern Europe, are being told the Reich is better to deal with than the Allies, whom the Germans accuse of making "annihilational trade deals for passing political effect."

In 24 large exhibition buildings are displayed great quantities of industrial products. They are displays which cost German buyers many a heartbreak, for here are products which could be sold readily in the Reich except for war regulations permitting only limited domestic sales.

No such restrictions bind foreigners, however. Anything can be had for currency or for barter transactions.

The German citizen is foregoing cameras, machines, soap, and cloth so the Reich may swap these commodities for fodder and ores from Russia, oil from Rumania and butter from anyone willing to trade.

Not one visitor from the United States, much less a buyer has registered in the first three days of the fair.

WILLIAM CLARK IS NAMED NEW N. B. GOVERNOR

OTTAWA, March 6 — William George Clark of Fredericton has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last night.

He succeeds Hon. Murray MacLaren, whose five-year term expired last Feb. 8. The new Lieutenant-Governor was Liberal member of the last parliament for York-Sunbury, N.B.

A prominent New Brunswick businessman, he is president of J. Clark and Sons, a motor car and farm implement sales enterprise. For about 10 years Mr. Clark was mayor of Fredericton and in 1930 made a bid for a seat in the provincial legislature but was defeated after campaigning against introduction of liquor control in New Brunswick.

In 1935 he successfully contested the Federal riding of York-Sunbury. Mr. Clark is a leader in the Baptist Church in Fredericton and his hobby is farming.

Interest-Reducing "Acts" Not Law

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has ruled that under the constitution of Canada the regulation and control of interest rates is a matter wholly within the jurisdiction of the Dominion parliament. Therefore that the legislature of Alberta went beyond its powers when in 1937 it undertook to pass legislation reducing the interest rates to be paid on outstanding provincial bonds. And again when it took similar action to reduce the interest rates on bonds which had been guaranteed by the province.

The Judicial Committee is a law-interpreting body exclusively. It was not sitting as a policy-making body, nor as a fact-finding body. Whether the province was for any reason entitled to a reduction of the rates, it was no part of the duty of the Committee to say. Nor whether the province could or could not in fact have paid the full rates. The question before it was simply a matter of law, and the decision reached is that the question of interest rates is a matter that rests wholly with the Dominion parliament.

The Real Kind of Sympathy

Edmonton people and outsiders who happened to be in town on Saturday dropped $1800 in the collection boxes of those who were selling tags on the street corners to raise money in aid of Finland. The amount is a substantial one. If a corresponding response is made in other centres across the Dominion the total will be large. If the peoples of the Allied and neutral countries contribute in proportion, the Finns will not lack the "sinews of war," nor the means of taking as good care of their wounded and civilians as circumstances permit.

Edmonton's greatest contribution may not have been the money dropped in the collection boxes, but the example of organized effort to translate popular sympathy for that brutally abused people into practical assistance. Sympathy for the Finns is almost world-wide. There is probably only one country—not forgetting Germany—where popular feeling is on the side of Russia. But the Finns cannot defend themselves with good wishes, however genuine and general. These must be changed into cash, with which they can buy supplies of all kinds. What has been done in Edmonton should be done in every community where sympathy for them is something more than emotional surge.

The "Put Over" Idea

The most realistic argument for a "national" government is one that is not heard on the platform. It is whispered about in private conversation. A "national" government, it is said, could adopt war measures and war-time measures which the public could not be got to sanction if submitted to them as a platform in the elections.

Hence, the implication is, the personnel and policy of the proposed combination have to be kept in the background until the votes have been polled. Then, should the "national" government candidates be elected in a majority, the new parliament could enact the unpopular measures its sponsors have in their minds, whatever those measures may be.

The idea, in plain words, is to "put over" something or some things the voters would not stand for.

Dr. Manion may not have started this whispering campaign or know anything about it. But it is going on. And he is playing into the hands of the whisperers, knowingly or otherwise, by refusing to say who he plans to take into his cabinet of the "best brains," and failing to give any plain statement as to what these "best brains" have agreed to do or not to do if they should attain the power he is trying to gain for them.

Whether it is his fault or his misfortune, this scheme to "put over" something the electors don't want is a matter they cannot afford to ignore. And that is a matter on which Dr. Manion cannot now give them any guarantee they could depend upon. If he had named his proposed cabinet at the outset he might claim to speak for its members. He hasn't named them yet, and so far as the public know has no authority to speak for anybody but himself in the contemplated line-up.

The Verdict of the Neutrals

Herr Von Ribbentrop offers as an excuse for the war he helped to plot that Germany must break Britain's "stranglehold" on world trade and finance. To which the New York Times responds that there isn't any such thing. That will not cause the Herr to retract his "nonsense" or stop repeating it. But it is significant that the disclaimer came first from a neutral country. And equally important that the people of every neutral country know it to be true.

In peace-time Germany buys Canadian wheat, Indian tea, Malay rubber, and all other products of British countries at the same prices English buyers have to pay. Gibraltar and Malta have never been used to "choke off" German or Italian trade. British money was loaned to Germany since the close of the former war at the same interest rates paid by Britishers and residents of other countries. Incidentally, it was loaned for industrial purposes, but mis-used by Herr Hitler to build up a war machine to destroy the country which lent it.

British naval power has not been used to hamper the commerce of Germany or any other country save in time of war. British money has financed production and trade wherever loans were sought and security offered, nowhere with such doubtful wisdom as in Germany.

Gratitude or fairness is not to be looked for from Von Ribbentrop and his associates. But they might at least try to think up some accusations which the world at large would not recognize immediately to be the exact reversal of truth.

There is not a neutral country on earth whose people do not earnestly hope that Naziism will be smashed and its aim to get a "stranglehold" on world commerce frustrated. And, if they dare speak, millions of people in the Reich would declare they hope the same.

In the early years of the century the news despatches used to tell us every once in a while that a township treasurer or a county treasurer or a town treasurer had "turned up missing" in Ontario, leaving behind him an empty cash box and a set of books that had not been audited for years. The city of Chihuahua in Mexico had quite a colony of ex-treasurers from that province who had been trusted not wisely but too well. Walkerton has evidently been keeping up the good old custom of not offending its trusted treasurer by having his books gone over by an auditor. He has now gone to jail for two years for having misappropriated $12,866 over a period of two and a half years.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Ex-Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg of Austria is still a prisoner of Hitler, suffering, so it is said, cruel refinements of mental torture. Why should he be kept a prisoner? Austria was helpless enough at the time of the Anchluss. No Austrian soldier was allowed to draw a sword or fire a shot against the invading German armies. Von Schuschnigg only did his duty in accepting office when tendered him by the Austrian people. It is as if some brother thug on this continent was to seize and despoil a multi-millionaire who offered no resistance, and then keep him prisoner for long years. Indeed the illustration is no parallel, for the millionaire if free might call in the aid of the authorities. Von Schuschnigg, helpless when at the head of a weak Austria, is totally helpless now—a man without a country and with no aid he can summon.

INSIDE THE GESTAPO

On the face of it, unless Hitler is wholly a cruel monster, devoid of pity and chivalry to a brother-Chancellor whom he has overthrown without resistance, there must be some private reason for such unrelenting vengeance. A former high official of the German Gestapo who writes under the name of "Hansjurgen Koehler" tells the inside story in a new book called "Inside the Gestapo".

* * *

GOT THE GOODS ON HITLER

The story centres round a certain file which General Schleicher in the early days of the Nazi movement compiled, dealing with Hitler's army record. It disclosed the dangerous fact that Hitler had never spent a day in the trenches during the World War, but had served all the time as a runner attached to the regimental staff. The story, circulated in Nazi propaganda that Hitler had earned the Iron Cross by capturing, singlehanded, twelve French soldiers and a machine gun was said to be a falsehod. It was established that Hitler did not receive the decoration till a considerable time after the war had ended, and that he had avoided promotion from corporal to sergeant because he had been made sergeant he would have had to go to the front line. People have wondered how it came about that Hitler remained a corporal for four years, despite the terrible scarcity of non-commissioned officers in the German army towards the end of the war. His regiment—the Lister Regiment—makes no mention of him in its record of individual exploits.

COUNTESS VERA COMMANDEERED

More damning still from the viewpoint of Nazi anti-Semitic propaganda was memoranda contributed by Chancellor Dolfuss asserting that Hitler's grandmother Mathild Schueckelgruber had been seduced while serving as a maid in Vienna in the Rothschild mansion. A note in Dolfuss' handwriting added: "These data ought to cheer the writers of history who may want to publish in the future the true life of Hitler. Here is the psychological explanation of Hitler's fanatical hate of the Jews."

There were other entries too, about Hitler's personal and family life.

* * *

General Schleicher paid the penalty in 1934 when he was slain in the blood purge. Search through his papers revealed that he had forwarded the dossier to Chancellor Dolfuss. After Dolfuss' murder by Nazi thugs in Vienna, Fear lest publication of the contents of the file should shatter the god-like halo that had been woven round the head of Hitler, led to Koehler being despatched to Vienna to work under Ambassador von Papen, with instructions to obtain possession of the file by any means whatever.

Here a strange note of romance and treachery comes into the story—as strange as life itself. When efforts to burgle the von Schuschnigg safe were frustrated by the vigilance of Madame von Schuschnigg, the German agents brought a beautiful divorcee, Countess Vera von Rugger, to their aid. She was to "vamp" the Chancellor.

Then by a stroke of fate, Madame Herma von Schuschnigg came to her death in an auto accident. When von Schuschnigg and Countess Vera met, they fell genuinely in love with each other. Von Papen who had introduced the couple at an Embassy dinner started a whispering campaign to try and prevent the Catholic Chancellor from marrying the lovely divorcee. He threatened ruin and hostess in the words, "Do you want him to share the fate of Dolfuss?"

While von Schuschnigg was in conference with Hitler at Berchtesgarden, von Papen secured the sheaf of papers that had it flown to Hitler, who flaunted it before the eyes of von Schuschnigg and demanded the surrender of Austria.

Countess Vera confessed that she had been brought to Vienna to act as a German agent for von Schuschnigg's undoing, was freely forgiven by the infatuated von Schuschnigg, and married him by proxy while he was a prisoner of Hitler. That, says Koehler, is the reason why Hitler is keeping von Schuschnigg as his personal prisoner, long after von Schuschnigg's power to harm him has passed.

A TELLER OF TALES

As we recall the great preachers and evangelists whom we have heard, the truth stands out that they were all masters of incident, illustration, parable and stories.

One blight of God that is upon the contemporary highbrow breed of so-called "liberals" is that they have none of the Jesus-art of telling tales. Their speech is stilted, stogy and sesquipedalian—to borrow one of their own big words.

Even boys and girls hung eager-eyed on the stories told by Jesus. He never provided fodder too high for the lambs to reach. And His parables have come down the ages, ever serving man's inner life, in all simplicity and strength.

Teach us, good Lord, the art of seeing the spiritual significance of the commonplace; and of making everyday to glow with moral meaning. Amen.

Canada Needs the Business

Canada's tourist trade yields as much as $300,000,000 a year and is thus as important in the national economy as the export of wheat. The money American visitors spend in this country offsets our unfavorable balance of trade with the United States. It is imperative, therefore, that nothing be done to discourage the influx of tourists from south of the border. They are the lifeblood of hundreds of resorts in Ontario, Quebec, the Maritime Provinces and the West. In view of this, the authorities at Ottawa have decided to instruct the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to crack down on any Canadian company or individual who fails to give American visitors every cent of the premium on their dollar. This premium—about 10 per cent—is one of the considerations which will influence thousands of United States tourists to see Canada this year, especially when ocean travel is so risky and uncertain. The millions of dollars in American funds which the tourist trade will bring to Canada are absolutely vital to the war effort. In the last war the Dominion had virtually unlimited credit in the United States. In the present conflict, however, war purchases are on a cash-and-carry basis and must be paid for at the border when delivery is taken.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

Standing Aloof

The nomination of the Rev. W. G. Brown for the general election on March 26 was expected, of course. There has been at no time any question about the United Reform Movement selecting anyone else or of anyone else seeking the nomination. The movement in Saskatoon centres around Mr. Brown personally and without him there seems doubt that it would continue as a potent force.

Mr. Brown waged a successful fight in the by-election a few months ago. He supported the war effort being made, and he showed discretion and political astuteness in his campaign and was aided by divisions and disputation in the ranks of his opponents.

The interesting thing about his nomination is that it appears to constitute a rejection of a bid made by a section or part of Saskatoon Conservatives to have him declare himself in support of or in alliance with Doctor Manion and his effort to form some kind of union government. Mr. Brown has wisely rejected that bid, has refused to associate himself with that shadowy proposal or submit to Conservative domination.—Saskatoon Star-Phoenix.

Sanity Versus Hysteria

It would be impossible to imagine a clearer, more candid, more outspoken speech within the limits of moderate language than that in which Premier Chamberlain broadcast the Allies' war aims, their formula for peace, and their invitation to other Powers to join the Allies in the settlement of the new Europe. Mr. Chamberlain has never been more forthright in his speech, has never shown more forcibly the intensity of feeling that lies behind the rigid self-control he invariably manifests in his public utterances.

The Prime Minister set forth in simple language the aims of the Allies and the concrete terms which those aims can be achieved. The aims: To right the wrongs that Germany has inflicted on people who once were free; the freedom of individual conscience; the freedom of religion; against persecution, wherever it may be found; and the abolition of the spirit of militarism and of that accumulation of armaments which is pauperizing Europe and Nazi Germany herself. The terms: The independence of the Poles and the Czechs must be restored. The Allies must have reasonable assurance to satisfy them that pledges and assurances when they are given by Germany will be fulfilled.

Mr. Chamberlain declared again and again that it is up to Germany to take the next step and to allow the Allies conclusively that she has abandoned the thesis that might is right. He pointed out that, in re-establishing confidence between the nations in one another's good faith, Germany can do more than any other country, for the simple reason that she has done most to destroy that confidence; and he gave the assurance that when Germany shows she is ready to give proofs of her good will and her good faith, she will not find others lacking in the will to help her overcome the economic difficulties that are bound to accompany the transition from war to peace.—Montreal Star.

By FRED WILLIAMS

Fifty years ago, a young clerk in the Bank of British Columbia at Victoria, when on weekend excursion to Seattle, picked up a typewriter, and without asking managerial permission, installed it at his desk. The local manager, an Englishman, of course, protested, but when pointed out the legibility and the ease of duplicating, agreed that the machine could be used for local correspondence "until the next meeting of the board."

The "iconoclast" thought that he had taken care that none of the typed letters should get to London; but by some mishap one did slip into the mail-bag for London. Months passed. Then one day the typist was called into the manager's office and shown a letter from the Court of Governors. First it demanded by what right the Victoria agency had expended money of the proprietors upon a machine when human hands could do the work; secondly the offender was told that if he felt that he could not write sufficiently plainly he had better resign from the service of the bank.

The other son, not relishing auch dictation from London, did resign; he crossed to Vancouver, where he aided in establishing a rival to the Bank of British Columbia, and later in life had the satisfaction of knowing that his son had sold to the Bank of British Columbia a large number of typewriters and adding machines. . . . The English custom of writing all letters by hand and then copying them lasted longer in Victoria than in any other place in Canada; but I know of branches of old county houses where the type machine and the carbon paper were banned until well into the century. One philanthropist in Montreal would not even read a typed letter; another in Toronto agreed that his business letters might be typed, but that any dictated for him must be hand written. And there yet exist hundreds of vaults with letter books dating well back, and, truth to tell, some of them are more legible than some typed copies.

Spring Daylight

Editor, Bulletin: One of the advantages we Canadians enjoy in greater degree than American nations south of us is, that in spring-time our daylight hours expand more and faster, as may be seen by glancing over the tabulation I have compiled below:

Length of Day Between Sunrise and Sunset:

DATE	Hrs.	Min.	Increase Per Day	Expans'n Since Jan. 10	Hrs.	Min.
Jan. 10	8	06
			2.3	..	23
Jan. 20	8	29
			3.0	..	53
Jan. 30	8	59
			3.5	1	28
Feb. 9	9	34
			3.5	2	03
Feb. 19	10	11
			3.7	2	43
Feb. 29	10	49
			3.8	3	22
Mar. 10	11	28
			3.9
Mar. 20	12	07		4	01
			3.9
Mar. 30	12	47		4	41
			3.7
Apr. 9	13	24		5	18

Briefly stated, the average daily rate of expansion during January was 3 minutes, during February 3.7 minutes, and 3.9 minutes will be the rate during March.

After March 21 the daily rate of expansion will decrease to 3.7 per day during the next 10 days and thence at lower speed of increase till the final increase of one minute matures between June 21 and 22.

After June 22 days will daily decrease until December 22, when the day from sunrise to sunset will only be 7 hours 45 minutes in length.

Grave Russian Menace

Editor, Bulletin: Brave Rumania: hold tight and do the right. Britain is already at war with Russia and Nazi Germany. What commander on the field of battle would dare entertain a potential enemy, contacting nationally owned rich oil fields, and mineral resources? That was evidently why Great Britain, the Union Jack of Justice, would not slain her reputation with Russian alliance previous to the four power Munich pact of October, 1938. So why blame Chamberlain? The true story of Munich and the failure of Russian negotiations is gradually being revealed. Russia demanded a free hand in the Baltic states. Butcher Stalin, the scum of humanity, promptly made a deal with Hitler, and evidently received a blank cheque respecting the Baltic. Now Russia is proceeding on her own bloody aggression, thus double crossing Hitler, giving Mussolini the jitters and leaving them asking each other, "Where are we now?"

Russia is now smashing and pushing everything by murder, pillage and destruction, knowing Germany has to submit. If Russia takes Finland, Norway and Sweden will decent people in the hollow of their treacherous blood - stained hands, are only two unnatural individuals after all!

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

Many foods may be greatly improved in flavor by the addition of wholesome sauces. A properly prepared sauce not only makes a food more appetizing, but may be used to "dress up" an ordinary food to make it taste slightly different. Here are a few sauces which I recommend:

TOMATO JUICE SAUCE: Pour a can of tomato juice into an open pan and boil until it has been reduced by evaporation to about one-half. Add two level tablespoons of finely chopped parsley. This provides an excellent sauce of catsup-like consistency which you may pour over meats or fish and which will greatly enhance their flavor. Use this sauce with protein foods, such as meat, as it stimulates the flow of the digestive juices which digest protein foods. Or, instead of making tomato sauce yourself, you may buy it already put up in cans.

MUSHROOM SAUCE: A flavorful sauce may be prepared from dried mushrooms by first washing them thoroughly and then running them through a very fine meat grinder. Add enough water to float them freely, cover and let simmer for one hour. A small amount of soy bean sauce may be added, although it is not necessary. When finished, the water should have evaporated to about one-half the original amount. This sauce may be used with either meats or starches. You will find it adds an appetizing flavor to noodles or spaghetti.

BROWNED MEAT SAUCE: In a frying pan place a piece of round steak after removing all of the fat. Cover the pan with a close-fitting lid and simmer slowly for about twenty minutes or until a good deal of the juice has been extracted from the meat. Remove the lid and simmer until the moisture evaporates and a brown deposit is left on the bottom of the pan. Care must be used not to burn this, which consists of meat extractive. When almost dry, add a small amount of butter, and when this melts, add a small amount of water and stir carefully. This will make a brown sauce which may be added to meats or to non-starchy vegetables, to increase the flavor.

BROWNED FLOUR SAUCE: In a dry skillet, place two heaping tablespoonfuls of white flour. Place over a low flame and stir constantly until the flour is thoroughly browned. Care must be used not to scorch the flour. A small amount of this may be used to thicken the meat sauce described above, or may also add a small amount of water to this flour, using just enough to thicken it to a gravy form, and this may then be used as a dressing for meats, non-starchy vegetables or starchy foods. By dextrinizing the flour in the browning process, you will find the flour will combine readily with any other class of food.

RAISIN SAUCE: Place one-half cup of washed seedless raisins in a small stew pan. Add one-quarter cup of diced carrots and one-quarter cup of chopped celery. Cover with water and allow to simmer for twenty minutes. Pour through a fine sieve and use the juice as a sauce over pot roasts or similar cuts of meat.

Tomorrow's article will discuss condiments. Read it in this newspaper.

The first shipment of crude oil from the Lloydminster oil field left today, when a tank truck containing over 1,300 gallons consigned to the government buildings at North Battleford pulled out of town. This is the first shipment on a contract held by the Shaw Petroleums to supply crude oil for fuel purposes to North Battleford.

The first company to complete arrangements for new drilling in the Lloydminster oil and gas field for 1940 is the Trans-Alberta company of Vancouver, who have announced their intention of drilling two wells about three miles south of the town on the Saskatchewan side near the fourth meridian. The site of the first well will be near the Shaw Petroleum No. 3 which came into oil production early this year.

TROCHU

The Trochu hockey team reached the semi-final in the provincial intermediate hockey play-offs when they defeated Bashaw by a score of 6-2 in a game played Monday night on the Trochu ice. Hollinquist was knocked out by a stiff body check midway through the first period and was unable to play the remainder of the period. Midway in the final period, two of the players were in a wrestling match and it took both teams and the referee over two minutes to disentangle them. Those scoring were R. McCutcheon 2, for Bashaw, and M. Hanna 3, W. Wagner 2 and M. Weiwer for Trochu.

LOUGHEED

Ten rinks were entered in the annual ladies' bonspiel held in the local rink. Prizes in the Grand Challenge were won by the following skips: Mrs. G. Crooks of Sedgewick, Mrs. Noreen of Killam, Mrs. Rumper of Sedgewick and Miss Lindsay of Strome.

The secondary event was won by Mrs. Butt of Sedgewick, Miss R. Hepworth, Miss M. Voorhees and Mrs. Olson, all of Lougheed.

United States Offers To Sell All Surplus Arms To Non-Belligerents

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The United States war department offered yesterday to sell, to Latin American and other non-belligerent nations, artillery, rifles and other surplus war material which cost originally several hundred million dollars.

A list of such surplus weapons, described as "usable" though they date from the First Great War, was disclosed following an announcement that 90 long-range six-inch field pieces had already been sold to Brazil.

FINLAND IS BARRED

Finland was barred from the offer because it is at present engaged in hostilities.

Some 2,500 rifles were reported reliably to have been transferred recently to Haiti and the Philippine government was supplied with rifles and mountain guns for its new army after the commonwealth was set up in 1935 to prepare for independence.

Several Latin American governments, including Chile, have inquired since the war started whether American munitions in storage for more than two decades were for sale. Sweden also has made such inquiries.

Officials explained the surplus munitions had all been displaced by later models. Included are some 100,000 Enfield rifles out of some 1,800,000 models of this shoulder weapon now in storage. Other weapons listed included:

70,000 MACHINE GUNS

More than 70,000 machine guns, mostly for use in war planes, including Lewis, Marlin and Vickers makes.

Approximately 300 75-millimeter field guns of a British model, unused since the army standardized the French 75.

More than 250 eight-inch howitzers of British design, along with a limited amount of ammunition.

Approximately 25 heavy siege guns.

More than 200 three-inch Stokes mortars, used in trench warfare, along with upwards of 100,000 rounds of ammunition.

Beginners Have 'Spiel At Erskine

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

ERSKINE, March 6.—Erskine high school took broom and stone into unfamiliar hands for a two-day beginners' bonspiel here Friday and Saturday, and reportedly had a better time at it than the older, more veteran curling fans. Under the sun, despite that the fun of the thing was the only prize offered.

Several rinks were entered, and the majority of them had not a player that had played or practised the game before. The rinks were accompanied of high school students of both sexes and teachers A. R. Patrick, A. W. Bruns, and Madge Williams.

Rinks skipped by Rod Nichols and Bobbie Bugle were declared winners, the first named of the "first prize", the latter of "consolation". All rinks won applause.

THREE PARTIES SEEK ELECTION IN NOVA SCOTIA

Solid Blocs Of Liberals Were Sent To Ottawa In 1935 Voting

HALIFAX, March 6—One of the two provinces that sent solid blocs of Liberals to parliament in 1935, Nova Scotia finds three parties battling for her 12 seats this time, with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation making its first bid here in a Dominion general election.

With 29 candidates in the running to date, the field is six short of the number that contested the last election. A dozen official Liberal candidates have been named along with 11 Conservatives, five C.C.F. men and one member of the last parliament who was not renominated but is standing as a Liberal.

In 1935, the same number of Liberals and Conservatives were on the ballots, but there also were 11 Reconstruction candidates and a Communist.

All members of the last parliament are entered again except Donald MacLennan of Inverness-Richmond, who has gone to the Senate, and Dr. J. H. McGregor, leader of the Liberal Nova Scotia legislature, has resigned from the provincial house to seek this seat.

GREAT BRITAIN UNEMPLOYMENT IS DECREASED

LONDON, March 6.—Earl Stanhope, lord president of the council, told the House of Lords yesterday that permanent unemployment in Great Britain had decreased 40 per cent since the outbreak of war and soon would be eliminated.

Replying to criticism from Lord Strabolgi, Labor, Earl Stanhope pointed out that the transition period between peace and war is not yet over. He said steel production in 1940 would be superior to production in 1914 and that the upswing in other industries automatically would solve the unemployment problem.

Lord Strabolgi complained that despite the fact that the nation is expending its entire resources in the war effort there still are 800,000 persons unemployed. He charged this unemployment was due to poor planning by the government.

Nova Scotia Will Re-Affirm Loyalty To British Crown

HALIFAX, March 6—Premier Angus L. Macdonald gave notice of a resolution calling the Nova Scotia legislature to re-affirm its loyalty to the crown and its devotion to the principles being defended by the Allies in the war, as the legislature opened amidst subdued wartime ceremony yesterday.

Sir Joseph Chisholm, chief justice and administrator, opened the third session of the province's 18th legislative assembly since Confederation. Before the 34-member sitting had ended, 16 bills were introduced and the house was in the midst of the debate on the reply to the Speech from the Throne.

British Admiral Is Not Forced To Leave Canada Soil

OTTAWA, March 6—The National Defence Department issued a statement in which it said "There is absolutely no truth in the charge that an admiral of the Royal Navy has been required to transfer his flag from Canadian soil to a ship of the British admiralty in a certain Canadian port."

M. A. MacPherson, former attorney-general of Saskatchewan and runner-up to Hon. R. J. Manion for choice as Conservative party leader, was reported as saying last Tuesday in an address in Toronto, that the Canadian government had forced a British admiral to move from an office on Canadian soil to a yacht in an eastern Canadian harbor.

Hungarian Nazis Put Under Arrest

BUDAPEST, March 6.—Sixty members of the Hungarian Nazi party have been arrested, it was learned yesterday, on charges of plotting against members of the government.

Fireman, Engineer Killed In Wreck

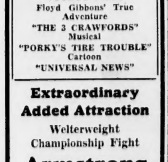

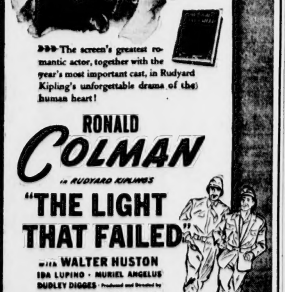

LONDON, March 6.—The fireman and engineer of a freight train were killed late last night in a wreck between Avesmore and Carrbridge, Scotland. The locomotive ploughed into four freight cars which had become uncoupled and were rolling backward down a grade.

PIBROCH

A well attended C.C.F. meeting was held at Pibroch hall on Monday night. Walter Mentz, of Edmonton, provincial candidate for the Pembina riding, explained the C.C.F. platform.

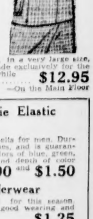

He advocated nationalization of oil and other natural resources of Alberta, which, he said, would bring about better conditions. Mr. Charles I. Ennis occupied the chair.

School for Leaders Precedes W.M.S. Annual Meeting Begun Officially On Wednesday

AS AN INTERESTING prelude to the business of the convention and providing an educational facility which has hitherto been neglected, a school for leaders and study groups featured the opening day of the fifteenth annual meeting of the Alberta conference branch of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church, being held from Tuesday until Friday in McDougall United church. Wednesday morning sessions saw the registration of about 75 delegates from various points throughout Alberta who previously on Tuesday morning and afternoon had met in an educational period which gave them further insight into the various phases of work in which they are all interested.

Led by Mrs. J. H. Tanton, the morning school on Tuesday included study of affiliated C. G. I. T. groups, mission band and baby band.

C.G.I.T. LEADERSHIP

Miss Pauline McBain in her discussion on C.G.I.T. group leadership outlined the most beneficial ways of conducting meetings and introduced new projects for girls. Mrs. R. K. Colter dealt with mission bands while Mrs. C. E. Sellers discussed baby band work, showing what an important place it holds in W.M.S. work. Mrs. Tanton displayed a poster illustrating the fact that these organizations of the younger people are the source of supply for W.M.S. workers of tomorrow.

Mrs. A. D. Richards was in charge during the afternoon period, during which Mrs. F. C. Casselman, Mrs. George A. Macdonald and Mrs. A. D. Miller brought interesting viewpoints on preparation for conducting a meeting, touching the business, study and worship periods. A typical meeting for instruction was conducted, with Mrs. A. D. Miller acting as president.

A pageant, "The Untouchables of India", was an especially effective and enjoyable means of illustrating the study period. Mrs. Fred Miller directed the pageant. Devotions for the afternoon was Mrs. A. Dalling, accompanied by Mrs. F. H. Norbury.

Delegates were guests of the Edmonton Presbyterial at tea late in the afternoon while in the evening an executive meeting were held. The nominating committee under the convenership of Miss Hazel Hunt and the advisory council is convened by Mrs. F. E. Graham met also.

WEDNESDAY SESSIONS

Mrs. Robert Pearson officially welcomed the delegates on Wednesday morning, to which Mrs. R. B. Layton of Medicine Hat replied.

Report of activities which have marked the past year was given by Mrs. T. Powell, corresponding secretary, while Mrs. F. E. Graham, president, gave an interesting review of presbyterial highlights.

Rev. J. Gordon Brown led a Bible study period on the subject "The Missionary Purpose of God" later in the morning and a communion service, conducted by Rev. R. K. Mc-Minn closed the morning sessions.

COMMITTEES NAMED

Committees appointed at Wednesday afternoon session include Resolutions, Mrs. A. M. Scott, Calgary; Mrs. T. H. Lonsdale, Banff; Mrs. R. B. Layton, Medicine Hat; Mrs. F. C. Casselman, Edmonton; Mrs. F. E. Graham and Mrs. A. D. Miller, Edmonton.

Finance, Mrs. J. E. White, Calgary; Mrs. F. S. Carr, Medicine Hat; Mrs. G. M. Ball, Stettler; Mrs. Hazel Hunt, Kulam; Mrs. W. F. Pratt, Hanna; Miss Pauline McBain, Edmonton.

Press, Mrs. F. T. Colley, Stettler; Mrs. W. A. Lang, Mrs. H. Hazel, Edmonton, and Mrs. N. McKeonnie, Calgary.

Paris Fashion Salons Show Styles Destined To Cheer The World From War Blues

PARIS, March 6.—Paris is teeming with novelties in the spring and summer shows. And Paris is determined that above all things, women shall be an antidote to war and blackouts and shall be colorful from head to toe.

Kidskin and goatskin, smooth and supple as satin for coats and jackets as well as for gloves. One lovely three-quarter coat in fawn goatskin, handstitched in dark brown.

And a new material called "Antilda" which is really calfskin with a rough suede finish, intended for sports jackets and blended in lovely colorings.

One coat in "caramel" color has a smart lining of black wool. Another is an entrancing combination of pale blue and fuschia combined.

The same material makes a mandarin coat of pale blue lined with fuschia.

GLOVES

One pair of linen-colored leather gloves have all over embroidery to match the new linen dresses. The newest models in gloves are wrist length with one button fastening. But they must be colorful. Lavender, periwinkle blue, pink, Italian verdigris, gold, almond, and embroidered in scarlet dots, or trimmed with featherstitching and openwork.

One designer shows "Granny" shawls—three cornered affairs with fringe—the real old fireside shawls, but matching the tweed suits. This design also shows many one-sided effects—as, for instance, a wrap around coat in blue wool with one sleeve of taffeta or a while silk costume with one coat lapel embroidered in black braid.

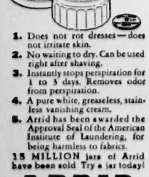

Caramel and rededa green are the favorite color schemes of this designer. Jackets of five-eighths length have straight sleeves open at the wrist, and a number of fur jackets and coats have short, full cut sleeves.

COLORS OF GARDEN

Afternoon frocks of tie silk prints carry the colors of the garden. Russet, lavender blue, nasturtium, amber and mignonette. Many of these have light jackets contrasting with darker skirts and blouses.

For evening there is still a lot of black in dinner ensembles. One daring decolletage veiled with gold net looks like a yoke when worn beneath a long sleeved straight dress with a necklace of golden beams radiating from the high neck. Another of coral crepe shows a neatly buttoned corsage and elbow sleeves. In this model the skirt is extremely full and hangs in a straight fold from the waist draped up at the knees in a way that is very much 18th century in style. This line is repeated in a summer evening dress printed with rows of brightly colored tulips.

Suits for the Easter Parade Walk Alone In Chic

Stunning Outfits Bow To Spring's Demand For New Silhouette

By MARIAN YOUNG

NEW YORK, March 6.—The new, longer length jacket . . . the bloused jacket with slim skirt . . . the collarless, double-breasted reefer over a print dress—there's plenty of news in spring suits for the Easter parade.

The suit with the molded, finger-tip-length jacket is a shining example of the new elongated torso silhouette. It gives the figure a lean, trim look through the midriff and seems to take inches off the hips. A more subtle version of the same effect is achieved by figure-molding, wrist-length jackets.

BLOUSED SILHOUETTE

With short jackets, especially boxy boleros, box-pleated, gored and circular skirts are widely used.

When the jacket is worn, however, the skirt usually is slim. It's also slim when the jacket is bloused. Skirt lengths remain the same—from 14 to 17 inches from the floor, depending on the shape of your legs.

The bloused silhouette, incidentally, is prevalent in suits as well as dresses, coats and dinner gowns. And it invariably makes waistline and hips seem smaller than they actually are.

There are man-tailored suits of hard-finish fabrics to be teamed up with soft blouses instead of the conventional shirts.

There are dressmakey suits as softly tailored as a silk print—even to drawstring necklines.

There are jackets of every conceivable length, skirts of every possible cut. Necklines and sleeves are varied. A ride range of colors is possible.

TWILL COMES BACK

Navy blue is the favorite, as always. But gray, black, golden beige and green, in the order named, are close runners-up.

Fairly smooth tweeds for town as well as country suits are to be popular. Twill—a material your grandmother loved—is featured. In all collections, smooth finish cloths seem to vie with the rough textured ones. Plaids and checks have a prominent position.

Stopping for a pepper-upper of hot soup or coffee and doughnuts during the Easter parade . . . the smart, fashion-minded young woman at left wears Vera Maxwell's black and white plaid suit with subtley flared skirt and a bloused jacket with large pockets. Her companion wears Miss Maxwell's bolero suit of navy wool, black patent accessories and a frilly white blouse.

Do Words Fail You At Such Moments?

Synonyms Needed Here

Your hostess was so sure you'd enjoy meeting each other!

But you said, "What a nice crowd," and he replied, "Yes, the music's nice too," and you said, "Such a nice place to dance"—and then you realized you were talking as if there wasn't any other word but nice. Oh! dear, what else could you say?

Many things—if you know vivid, lively synonyms. The crowd could be "pleasant," "attractive," "agreeable." The music could be "exhilarating," "entrancing." The dance floor could be "inviting", "enticing."

Indeed your whole conversation perks up if you have graphic words on the tip of your tongue. "I was delighted with the luscious candy" is more convincing to your beau than just "Thanks for the good candy."

In a Job interview, "I do accurate, thorough work" sounds more alert and intelligent than a flat "I do good work."

In our 32-page booklet are 4,723 synonyms for the words you use every day — socially, in business. Helps you put zest in your talk, gives you poise, confidence.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Synonyms For Everyday Words" to Home Service, The Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, and the Name of booklet.

TO KEEP HAIR PERFECTLY CLEAN

To keep hair perfectly clean, clean brushes and combs must be used. Both should be washed frequently. Brushes may be cleaned in a warm, mild, soapy bath to which a few drops of ammonia have been added, rinsed thoroughly and hung to dry—never over or near heat. Combs may be washed in warm water and mild soap. If soil clings persistently, scrub with a small brush, rinse and dry

Debunker

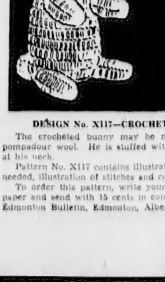

The idea that every bomb dropped on a city kills hundreds of people is quite erroneous, according to military men who say the results are highly exaggerated. The Russians were reported to have dropped 2,000 bombs on Finnish towns in one day recently, and to have killed only eighteen people. The idea that terrific sound waves are set up by exploding bombs is also mostly myth, as it is not believed that people are killed by these sound waves if properly protected, and that they lose force after about thirty feet. Bombings are more to demoralize the general populations than to kill off great numbers of people.

Florida, the Bahamas, and the Mediterranean supply most of England's sponges. Annually, $140,000 worth are purchased from the Bahamas alone.

New Spring Hats Are On Sensible List

Good news for men: the girl friend's spring bonnet will likely resemble a hat. Gone are the mad days of women's hat styles, and hats this year will be definitely on the "sensible" list—at least for the end of winter and beginning of spring. Romantic, burnt orange velling is used on a tricorne, upper left, of rough straw. The old-fashioned bonnet, upper right, trimmed with a profusion of vari-colored ribbons, is for late afternoon and informal evening. The shiny white sailor, lower left, loses all hint of severity through black ribbon trimming and elaborate veiling. The fuchsia straw cloche, lower right, is the popular hat shape of the moment. It's trimmed with imported dahl as which look for all the world like fresh flowers.

Raising A Family

Where does temper come from? This is what many mothers would like to know. It comes from the little head and heart, just as ours does.

From one to three, when baby gets mad and screams, it is because he has feelings. He is as elemental as a little Hottentot. But he has appeal, too. Buddy is probably more sympathetic at this time than he will ever be again in all his life. He feels more sorrow, than he ever will again, most likely. What he does comes right from the heart.

O. R. Barton

From one to three he is generous, too, and with no ulterior motives. It is instinct in a young child to be sympathetic and kind.

However, we can't expect any human being to be all angel. If there is sweetness in his character, there must be some snips and snarls, too. And there are.

This baby of ours has a temper. He does not like to be crossed, and he does not like to be disciplined. He thinks, if he does think much, "I wouldn't do that to my little boy, and I can't understand anybody doing it to me."

He likes to take his time and have his way. That's independence budding. And above all he hates to have his pride cut.

Jealousy? The green monster is not at all the exclusive right of older folk. It flourishes with a will in tiny tots.

And the pity of it all is that he can't reason or see justice, as we can. He is as full of "instincts" as an egg is of chick.

Then his obstinate will begins to annoy us at three or four. And that's something we can't forgive. But haven't we will, too?

WHY EXPECT PERFECTION?

If your child of three or four is not perfect, lay it to nature. And your job is to get some sort of control and discipline into him without getting too mad about it.

He needs daily telling, daily reminding. He is to know that he does not rule the roost. But he needs also to be happy and think you love him. The important thing at this time is to get him to think discipline and reminding are fair. He must do his best and learn the ways of people, or he will forever remain an elemental, uncontrolled, little barbarian at heart. He has to take telling, like every mortal ever born.

Minute Make-Ups

You can't expect hair to stay up by itself when it naturally grows down. Use combs to hold it in place at the sides and to help keep it neat. If you have thin hair, combs often make it look as though it grew luxuriantly.

250,000 Names Appear On Lists Prepared In V.R.C.W. Scheme

TORONTO, March 6—Organized by the society for voluntary registration of Canadian women, a list was made available this week with names and addresses of 250,000 women throughout Canada who have gone on record in support of Canada's participation in the war and who have promised their services in help in any way they can in the war effort.

The S.V.R.C.W. is under direction of Margaret Hyndman, K.C., and Mrs. Valetta Moore, experts statistician and an army of Toronto office workers and stenographers who are giving their services free in a move to mobilize the Dominion's womanpower behind the war effort. The list of 250,000 includes all ages from 16 to 60 and includes titled women and domestic servants.

FANCY CAKES

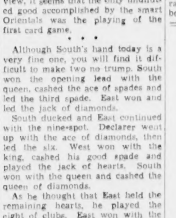

For small, festive cakes, cut plain cake baked in a shallow square pan into fancy shapes with cookie cutters, ice and decorate appropriately for the occasion. But don't discard the leftover pieces. Store in a covered dish and serve next day with custard sauce. Add diced fruit and whipped cream if desired.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

The Chinese are credited with the invention of gunpowder, printing and playing cards. For the sake of a good argument, a lot of us believe that gunpowder might just as well have remained undiscovered. Printing was a great invention, but some people think there is too much of it. So, from a card player's point of view, it seems that the only undiluted good accomplished by the sweet Orientals was the playing of the first card game.

* * *

Although South's hand today is a very fine one, you will find it difficult to make two no trumps. South won the opening lead with the queen, cashed the ace of spades and led the third spade. East won and led the jack of diamonds.

South ducked and East continued with the nine-spot. Declarer went up with the ace of diamonds, then led the six. West won with the king, cashed his good spade and played the jack of hearts. South won with the queen and cashed the queen of diamonds.

As he thought that East held the remaining hearts, he played the eight of clubs. East won with the ten and led the small heart, declarer winning with the ace. South cashed the club ace, and when East's king fell, the queen was good. Thus the declarer made eight tricks with ace and queen without once getting into dummy to take a finesse.

What To Do

How does a person introduce a man to a small group of women? What answer does a young woman make when leaving an older one who says she is happy to have met her? What would she answer to a person of her own age? Please advise me on these questions.

MISS C. B. V.

Answer—In introducing a man to a group of women you could either pick out the most important woman and say, "Mrs. Brown, may I introduce Mr. Black?" and then include the other women—Mrs. White, Miss Green, Mr. Black. Or you may do it more simply and say, "Mrs. Brown, Mrs. White, Miss Green, may I introduce Mr. Black?" The first is the best because it gives an extra moment for every one to register the names of the persons being introduced. Courtesy and not age should determine your answer and your reply would be the same to either, as, for instance: "Thank you, I have enjoyed meeting you, too, and I hope to have the pleasure of seeing you soon again."

Dorothy Dix Says:

The other day a young girl ended her life because, as she said in the brief note that she left behind her, she was so tired of being questioned by her mother. "It isn't that I wanted to do anything wrong," wrote the poor little creature whose mother's nagging had hounded her into the grave. "It is just that I hated to be made to tell about everything that I did."

It is true that in the average home no one can make the slightest move without having to make elaborate explanations about why he or she is going to do it. Oliver Wendell Holmes once said that the reason families break up is to keep the Browns from being Browned to death and the Smiths from being Smithed into the lunatic asylum.

But most of all it is family curiosity that wrecks homes. It is the eternal, "Where are you going?" "Whom are you going with?" "Who did you see?" "What did you say?" "What did they say?" "Why are you going with that girl or that boy?" "When are you coming home?" that breaks the nerve of the heartiest and make them flee to some far place where nobody feels privileged to catechise them about their private affairs.

Later on in life we learn that bondage is the inevitable price that we pay for domestic life, and very often it is worth the freedom it costs us. But youth does not know this, so it gnashes its teeth and makes up its mind to marry the first man who gets down on one knee to get a job in another city so as to get away from Mother's prying.

And Mother and Father, whose nagging is inspired by love, wring their hands in helpless grief over the situation and believe the worst of the youngsters' and pessimistically wonder what they are doing that they hide with such secrecy.

The remedy lies in the hands of the parents, and it consists in first recognizing that even the smallest child has a right to some privacy and some liberty of action, without which life is dust and ashes to even a baby. And secondly, in parents perceiving the futility of putting their children through the third degree about everything they do when it infuriates the youngsters and does no good.

"But I have a right to know where my children go and what they are doing," say the parents. Perhaps, but the only way they can find out is for the children to voluntarily confide in them, and the less they are questioned the more apt they are to tell.

And that is something for parents to bear in mind.

Corset Wardrobe Is Practical Economy

By ALICIA HART

It is a practical and, in the long run, economical idea for every woman to have a corset wardrobe. This simply means choosing foundation garments as she does dresses or suits—with an eye to suitability.

For instance, the smart lover of the skintwaist type of dress wouldn't dream of buying six cotton shirtwaist dresses to wear at every hour of the day throughout a season.

She buys perhaps two cotton shirtwaists for morning or for golf or for country week-ends, probably two simple silk ones for luncheons, shopping or general, casual afternoon wear and, of course, two much more dressy types for dress-up occasions.

Because she is chic and practical, too, she has at least one sturdy, although light and comfortable foundation garment to wear under the morning dress. It might be a pantie-girdle. Anyway it allows her plenty of freedom for bending over in dust under a chair or to reach the top shelf of the linen closet, yet it does support her figure properly.

EVEN GIRDLES NEED VACATIONS

For afternoon and semi-formal day functions, she has some kind of girdle or all-in-one that may not allow for quite as much vigorous bending and stretching but which is essentially comfortable. It probably is a little prettier than the morning garment.

For evening, she has a fine corset in which she can dance without getting tired and go on to have afternoon eggs at four in the morning without wishing to goodness she could go home and take off her girdle.

Her corset wardrobe is perfect if she can have two foundations of the first type mentioned, two of the second and one of the third. The way to make a corset give excellent service is to wash it after every six days of wearing, then put it away for six days of rest. Frequent washing, providing rinsing is thorough and the water is squeezed—not wrung—out, with rest periods between washings, will prolong the life of any foundation.

Premier Expected Return Thursday From North Trip

Manning, minister of trade and industry and all other Social Credit candidates in both provincial and Dominion elections, also will speak.

The premier is expected to remain here over the weekend, addressing the Edmonton Prophetic Bible Conference from a studio on Sunday. Next week he expected to go to Calgary, in which constituency he is running in the election. He is expected to remain there until his campaign is wound up.

Broomhall

The wheat market at Chicago took on renewed strength yesterday and closed 2¼ to 3 cents higher. Shorts are apparently nervous over the private reports to be issued today. Although the recent early spring moisture has made the wheat look remarkably green and healthy, the crop experts well know that there is little behind this condition and that the crop will deteriorate rapidly under adverse weather conditions. Last season the climatic conditions were ideal right up until harvest time and it is felt that such wonderful conditions are hardly likely to be repeated. Imports of Argentine rye amounted to 2,000 tons yesterday at the Hudson River but this is to be kept in bond for re-export. Canadian export business is slow. Number 1 Manitoba 3.0.0 the Atlantic seaboard is quoted 92c (American). The official price to English millers is 31.10 less 44c subsidy to all flour millers to keep bread prices down to 8½ pence per pound loaf which is 23½d or 31c a pound. This means that the government is supplying English millers with high class wheat for 74c a bushel American money.

ALLIES SEEK SETTLEMENT WITH STATES

Would Iron Out Difficulties Arising From Allied Blockade

By ANDREW BREDING
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Great Britain and France began special efforts today to iron out difficulties with the United States arising from the Allied blockade of Germany.

Frank Ashton-Gwatkin, an adviser to the British ministry of economic warfare, and Charles Rist, formerly deputy governor of the Bank of France, are here to confer with Secretary Cordell Hull and state department officials.

The problems that confront them involve:

1—Taking American ships into contraband control ports within the European combat area.

2—Censoring of mails.

3—Delays in examining ships at Gibraltar.

4—Blocking German exports to the United States.

The experts will also discuss Allied plans for rationing the imports of neutrals adjacent to Germany.

Meanwhile, French and British airplane purchases in the United States have made the January airplane export total of $25,460,817, the second best for any month in history.

Police Agreement Will Be Renewed Report Declares

Policing of this province by the R.C.M.P. will be continued and the existing agreement expiring May 31 next will be renewed, it was learned Wednesday. There has been no recent suggestion that it would not be renewed.

The province and Dominion agreed in 1932 that the R.C.M.P. would police the province and at the last session, Premier Aberhart indicated the agreement would be renewed.

It is recalled that the five-year agreement contains a proviso that it can be terminated by either party on a year's notice being given. As notice has not been given and as the agreement comes up for renewal on May 31, its extension is forecast.

Williams has returned to London after 10 years in Russia.

Asked if he thought Russia could send many supplies to Germany, he replied, "with the exception of a few commodities the answer is no, unless the Germans accomplish a miracle of organization."

EDMONTON WILL HAVE LINK FOR ALASKA ROUTE

SPOKANE, Wash., March 6.—The International Alaska Highway Commission will not select any official "Alaska highway" south of Prince George, B.C., the Spokane Chamber of Commerce was informed today by its managing secretary, James A. Ford.

Ford, now in Washington, D.C., wired the chamber after a conference with Representative Warren Magnuson, chairman of the United States delegation on the commission.

The secretary said Magnuson had told him the committee would recommend that the highway proper run north from Prince George, east of Hazelton, B.C., to Fort James and Whitehorse, Y.T., thence northwest to the Yukon-Alaska border and then due north to Fairbanks.

South of Prince George, Ford said, routes leading through Seattle, Spokane, Vancouver, the Okanagan Valley and Edmonton, all would be given equal status as "connecting links of the Alaska highway" and the recommendation made that all such "links" be fully developed.

Sir Hubert Flies To Nome

—By Bulletin Staff Cameraman

A guest in Yukon Southern's mail plane which left Edmonton for the Yukon Wednesday was Sir Hubert Wilkins, famed explorer. Sir Hubert is on his way to Nome, Alaska, and will fly with Yukon Southern as far as Whitehorse, where he will change over in a Pan-American plane. In the above picture Sir Hubert, in the centre, listens while Grant McConachie, right, president of the company, gives last instructions to Chief Pilot Ted Field, left, just before the plane leaves the airport to begin its 1,000-mile flight.

Wilkins Expects To Build Sub In City For North Project

Only official red tape and a few technical details have to be attended to before Sir Hubert Wilkins begins building, in Edmonton, the submarine he intends to use as a weather observing station in the Arctic ocean, the bearded explorer said here Wednesday as he boarded a Yukon Southern Air Transport plane for Alaska.

During the past two days Sir Hubert has interviewed officials of the companies which operate shipping on the Mackenzie river and the heads of local machine and construction shops to determine whether he could take a submarine down the Mackenzie to the Arctic Ocean and if it could be built here.

"I have been assured it will be possible to take the vessel down the Mackenzie, and I have practically completed arrangements here for its construction," Sir Hubert said.

"I am going to Nome, Alaska, to make some investigations for a friend of mine in New York. This trip has nothing to do with my proposed submarine venture. I expect to return to Edmonton about March 18 and then hope to be able to begin work on the construction of the vessel. With the necessary governmental permission," said Sir Hubert.

The flight to the Yukon will be an interesting one to Sir Hubert, who has seen most of the Arctic and Antarctic worlds, for it will be the first time he has ever visited Whitehorse, in the Yukon.

"I am particularly interested in making this flight in the Barkley-Grow plane. Admiral Byrd has taken a plane like it to the South Pole and I have contemplated using a similar machine on future expeditions," the explorer said.

TWO MONTHS TO BUILD

Sir Hubert said it would take about two months to build his submarine and another month to get it and his supplies to the mouth of the Mackenzie. He would probably use the balance of the summer learning to use and navigate the vessel, he said. It will cost about $35,000 and he will finance it himself until either the Canadian or the American governments recognize its value and endow it.

CORPS WILL REMAIN OUT OF POLITICS

President Col. Stewart Dunn Reports Stand At Meeting

Regardless of political happenings elsewhere, the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Corps Association will remain out of politics, Lieut.-Col. Stewart-Dunn, V.D., president of the branch announced at its regular meeting held Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple.

"It is recognized that this organization includes men of all parties and that will be respected," he said. "The local organization will have nothing to do with politics in any shape or form." This announcement was received with cheers.

The hall was crowded for the meeting.

SENDS MESSAGE

It had been expected that Brig. C. E. Connolly, D.S.O., officer commanding Military District No. 13, would be present, but illness prevented him. He sent a message, however, which was read by Lieut. Col. Dunn, in which he urged the older soldiers to do all in their power to help the younger men, by counsel and by writing them overseas.

Special feature of the meeting was the showing of outstanding motion pictures. Films were shown of the results of the great naval battle off the Uruguayan coast on Dec. 13 last when British cruisers under Sir Harry Harwood battered the pride of the German navy, the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee, into submission. The pictures showed the many hits scored by the British on the Graf Spee.

Pictures of reclamation of farms in western Canada were also shown.

GUESTS

Special guests included Rt. Rev. Bishop A. E. Burgett of the Anglican diocese of Edmonton and members of the clergy; Mayor John W. Fry, who spoke briefly, and members of the R.C.N.V.R. of this city.

The boys' fife, drum and bugle band of the association attended.

The next regular meeting will be April 2 and will be Ladies' Night. E. N. Slurrock is busy arranging the program and it is expected Brig. Connolly will be present.

The Edmonton unit of the Canadian Corps Association, with a membership of over 2,100, is the second largest unit of the organization in Canada, being next to Toronto in strength.

MacKinnon Reports Big Alberta Share Air Training Plan

An increased share in the Empire Air Training scheme was forecast for Alberta by the Hon. James A. MacKinnon, P.C., minister without portfolio in the present Dominion government and Liberal candidate in the federal riding of West Edmonton, in a fighting speech delivered to members of the Young Men's Liberal Club and the Twentieth Century Club in the I. O. O. F. Hall Tuesday evening.

During the course of his speech the minister stoutly defended the record of the present Liberal administration at Ottawa; praised the leadership given the country and the party by Prime Minister Mackenzie King; charged Dr. R. J. Manion, National Conservative leader, with being "uncertain and unsure—ready to promise anything to gain support," and pointed out the weaknesses of the plan for a National government advanced by the Conservative leader.

He was given staunch support by Ald. Hugh John Macdonald, K.C., Citizens' Slate candidate for one of the five Edmonton seats in the provincial legislature, who also spoke to the meeting. Mr. Macdonald praised the manner in which Mr. MacKinnon has represented Edmonton and Alberta at Ottawa and the many concessions for this district and the province that he had been able to obtain. He reviewed the record of the Liberal government, praised Mackenzie King for maintaining unity in Canada.

He called upon his audience to do all in their power "to see that Mr. MacKinnon is sent back to Ottawa with an overwhelming majority."

WOMEN'S SUPPORT

Mrs. J. J. Clooney, president of the Twentieth Century Club, promised support of the women of Edmonton for Mr. MacKinnon.

Gerald O'Connor, K.C., Citizens' Slate candidate for one of the five Edmonton provincial seats, was scheduled to speak but was unable to fulfill his engagement because of illness.

Joseph MacDonald, vice-president of the Young Liberals, in introducing Mr. MacKinnon, recalled that the minister had founded the first Young Men's Liberal Club in Edmonton in 1903.

"Every time I go I hear credit being given Prime Minister King for his patience, perserverence and hard work. The high ideals which he has maintained in all his dealings have appealed to the people of the country," said Mr. MacKinnon.

"Of Dr. Manion I feel that he is marked by uncertainty and indefiniteness. He has reached the point where he is ready to promise anything. Once opposed to National government because it would tend to weaken democracy and put the left wingers into power, he now grasps at it as a drowning man would clutch a straw."

He denied charges by Dr. Manion that Canada's war effort had been marked by favoritism or favoritism and promised there would be none while the King government remained in power.

AIR TRAINING

"The Air Training program will be good to Alberta. The rush which has been necessary in order to organize the tremendous amount of preliminary work already underway has made it impossible to release all the details. But there will be many new training centres in this province. The total cost of this program will be $600,000,000, of which $400,000,000 will be spent by Canada. And the fields are being planned and placed so that they will be an asset to the country when the war is over.

"To be true to herself Alberta should send to Ottawa a decent group of men to support the government. You need an Albertan to fight there for your share of the tourist business; to promote your oil production program—remember the air training scheme will require $52,000,000 worth of gasoline alone; you need a man to present your coal, farming, irrigation and other problems to parliament. You need adequate representation in the government. So I charge you to use all your influence in gaining support not only for me but for all Liberal candidates," Mr. MacKinnon concluded amid tumultuous applause.

J. Chamberlain, president of the Young Liberals, acted as chairman.

THE QUESTION

What do you think would be a fitting punishment for motorists who deliberately or purposely splash people in wet weather? This question was posed by Gerald Weber (9023) 107 street, who wins a Bulletin dollar to cover a recent dry cleaning bill.

THE ANSWERS

PEGGY WILLISCROFT, manageress: I say they should be fined. They could also be assessed costs of dry cleaning bills.

* * *

ELLA KERR, saleslady: I can hardly think of anything bad enough for them. There is at least one moronic driver in each community who will get his fun out of driving fast through puddles. He should be tied close to a pond of slush while people cut curves around him with cars.

* * *

BILL KUCHINSKI, engraver: I suppose the acid bath that I etch my cuts in would be a good place to dunk these drivers, but that might be too severe. Suppose we just fine them.

* * *

JEAN HOBSON, saleslady: It seems to me the tag bylaw might make provision for splashers. It would be a quick way of dealing with them to just assess their fun or carelessness at a dollar a splash.

* * *

BILL PLOWMAN, clerk: I would suggest that the splashers have their noses rubbed in the slush on the street. And the treatment should be repeated every time they break training.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

ANN BROWN, orphan daughter of a gambler, alone in an unfriendly city.

PAUL HAYDEN, stock room boy with ambition.

STEVE CLAYBOURNE, wealthy playboy.

CLARA BROOKS, dime store counter girl.

IRENE TEMPLE, society debutante.

Yesterday: Ann learns more about Paul during their first date. He is a college graduate, ambitious to succeed. There is no room in life for romance. They agree to be just friends. Two weeks after Ann's arrival in her new home, Florabelle asks her to go on a party.

CHAPTER XIII

ANN hesitated. There was a difference between going on a party and going to a party. When she hesitated, Florabelle said, "And you too, Clara."

"Oh, Florabelle," Clara breathed excitedly. "That's swell — simply swell. Don't it, Ann?"

"I'd like to go to a party," Ann admitted. "What—what kind of a party is it?"

"Oh," Florabelle continued carelessly, "we'll have dinner somewhere—and dance."

Clara's eyes sparkled. "Will we meet swell fellows?" She had a definite idea of swell fellows. They worked in offices behind big mahogany desks, they spent their evenings in night clubs. She had seen them in the movies.

"The best families in town will be represented," Florabelle assured her with a little grimace.

"Oh, gee," Clara sighed. "What'll I wear?"

"Have you got an evening dress?" Both Clara and Ann shook their heads.

"Well, don't try to be dressy. Wear street clothes. The smartest girls in Chicago never dress."

Clara ran to the closet and brought forth an atrocious taffeta frock. It was pale, tinted with cream lace. "Will this be all right?" she asked excitedly.

"I'll do. As she left the room, Florabelle said, "You're the important one, Ann. The party is being given in your honor."

"My honor?"

"Sure. Jake Bontel was in the taxi the other night. He saw you and asked me to bring you 'round. "Will there be a man for Clara?"

Florabelle nodded. "Three men will be there. Clancy Horton—he's mine and don't you forget it for a minute—Jake Bontel and Steve Claybourne. Steve goes with the North Side crowd. Occasionally he likes to meet the other half."

Ann was a little dubious about the affair. She had the feeling that Florabelle was railroading her into something. On the other hand, she was eager for gaiety. Dinner and dancing—it sounded delightful.

Florabelle took her acceptance for granted. "Just wait till Steve Claybourne sees Clara," she said, laughing lazily.

* * *

There was a flurry of baths and dressing in the apartment the next evening. Ann wore the new blue dress and little pancake hat. Her hair was like gold, vivid color burned in her cheeks, her eyes were mysteriously dark. Florabelle's gown was black, sleek and plain. At her throat she wore an immense rhinestone clip. A smartly veiled hat partially covered her ash blonde head.

Clara was a living demonstration of what a girl should not wear. The cerise dress fought with the shade of her rouge, her flame colored nails fought back. She'd had her hair done at noon and her head had an ice-bound look. Bangle bracelets jingled from her wrists, a bib necklace of raw gold covered her chest.

"Aren't you going to wear any jewelry?" she asked Ann.

"I haven't anything nice."

"Gee I wish I'd known it. They have swell stuff at the store."

Ann looked at Clara's decorations and was not in the least envious. They found a cab waiting at the curb and Ann quietly enjoyed the unaccustomed luxury. Clara's pleasure was less quiet.

Ann said, "I wonder why the men didn't come for us."

Florabelle glanced at her quizzically. She said nothing.

It was a long drive and Clara's excitement rose as the meter climbed. "Look at that thing," she kept saying. "Gee, they must be rich."

At last they stopped before an apartment hotel on Sheridan drive. Florabelle gracefully led the way to an elevator and they shot upward, Ann's doubts increasing with every floor.

"Why should we go to Mr. Horton's apartment?" she asked. "Why don't we meet them where we are to have dinner?"

Florabelle lost patience. "Look," she said firmly. "Are you planning to have a good time or are you going to put on an act at every turn? Who is throwing this party, anyway?"

Ann felt properly squelched. "I just wondered," she said lamely.

"Well stop wondering. Take things as they come. I go to parties like this about five times a week and I'm none the worse for them."

* * *

She knocked on a closed door and it swung open. A large, beefy man with several chins and a bulging waistline beamed out at them.

"Three little gifts from heaven," he proclaimed loudly.

"This is Clancy," Florabelle said. "Ann and Clara."

"Howdy. Ann and Clara. Come in. The two male earth beings behind me are Jake and Steve. Step up, boys, and do your manners."

Jake appeared on one side of his host and Steve on the other. Each carried a glass in his hand. There was a confusion of greetings. Jake removed Ann's hat and clumsily attempted to unbutton her little jacket.

"This stays on," she said, backing away.

He roared with laughter. "All right—all right—just wanted to be helpful." He patted her cheek. "Look at her, boys," he yelled, smart little lady. She says, 'Mix up something that you think I'll like.'"

* * *

By this time Clara was sipping a long drink. She was doing her best to be casual about it, imitating Florabelle's every move. While Jake hilariously mixed the drinks Steve crossed the room to Ann. He was an exceptionally good-looking young man, well groomed and nice mannered. He was a little less intoxicated than his two friends.

"I've never had the pleasure of meeting you," he said.

"Perhaps you've never gone slumming in the right places," she returned coolly. Ann was angry, more angry at herself than at the three men.

Why had she come? Why had she let herself in for something she might not be able to handle? What was the fun in a gathering like this? Where was the excuse for it?

"Pert little devil, aren't you?" Steve remarked.

"I can hold my own in any crowd."

"Do I detect gravel in that remark?"

"I put some in. Maybe you are clever enough to detect it."

Jake came from behind the bar, a slemmed glass in his hand. "Here you are, my sweet."

"Thank you." She took the glass. What was she to do with it? Why —oh, why had she come?

Nazis Execute Schoolboys In Deliberate Campaign To Exterminate Poles

PARIS, March 6.—The Polish government-in-exile, in an advance resume of data which is to go into a "White Book," last night accused the German conquerors of executing schoolboys and men and women en masse as part of a deliberate campaign to exterminate the native population of Poland.

(The German government previously has denied Polish charges of mass executions in the occupied regions.)

The official communique cited a long list of alleged atrocities and called them "Worthy of the worst tyrants of antiquity."

MASSACRE OF 60,000

Among the crimes the emigre government said had been committed were:

The shooting at Bydgoszcz of 136 Polish schoolboys, 12 and 13 years old.

"Massacre" at the same place up to the end of December of 60,000 Polish men and women.

Deportation from Gdynia of 200 Polish hostages and their execution, after they were forced to dig their own graves. Among those executed were listed the burgomaster, the port superintendent, chief judge of the district court and the manager of the local Bank of Poland branch.

The communique told of machine guns installed by the Germans in choir lofts in some churches to terrorize congregations.

The atrocities were called "Worthy of the worst tyrants of antiquity" in the communique.

BURN CHRIST STATUE

Citing alleged instances of interference with religious services and the closing of churches, the Poles charged a statue of Christ in one case was taken from a church and cast into a bonfire.

Wayside crosses and chapels have been removed in many places throughout Western Poland, it was alleged.

42,000 FARM OWNERS AIDED IN DRY AREAS

GLADSTONE, Man., March 6. — Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, briefly reviewed benefits to the farmer under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act in an election campaign address here yesterday.

Mr. Gardiner, speaking in support of F. D. McKenzie, Liberal candidate for the March 26 federal elections in Neepawa riding, declared more than 42,000 farmers received assistance under the P. F. R. A. in drought areas. Government help had enabled these farmers to remain on the land, he said.

Most of last year's wheat crop, still in the hands of the government, could be sold to the Allies for sufficient to return farmers more than 80 cents a bushel, the minister said.

STERN PEACE IS NECESSARY SAYS PHIPPS

Germany Must Be Rendered Powerless To Again Start War

MANCHESTER, March 6.—A stern peace, rendering Germany powerless ever to plunge Europe back into war, and "complete and permanent" union with France, were urged yesterday by Sir Eric Phipps, former British ambassador at Berlin and Paris.

If the Allies are defeated or lured into a premature and inconclusive peace," Sir Eric said during an address here, "the fate of Poland would be enviable indeed compared with ours."

Recalling tireless British efforts to avoid war by making concessions to the Reich, the diplomat said there was "too much talk about all the nice, kind things we mean to do to the dear Germans after we have helped rid them of their Nazi tyrants."

"Are we doomed to play periodically with the Germans a grim war game on the basis of 'heads we lose, tails you win?' he asked. "In other words, must we periodically fight the 'bad' Germans and then, after defeating them at a terrible cost, help their 'good' brethren soon after the signature of peace to become strong enough and 'bad' enough to resume their interrupted cycle of aggression?

"Let us beat them first, and then we can decide, in close consultation with our gallant French allies, how to ensure, without any injustice or tyranny that we shall not be called upon at stated intervals to sacrifice millions of lives in suppressing Prussian aggression, whether it be let loose at the behest of a Frederick, a Bismark, a William or a Hitler."

FRENCH LIAISON OFFICERS GIVEN BRITISH AWARDS

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, March 6.—French liaison officers attached to the British expeditionary forces were decorated for exceptional bravery in action in ceremonies at the British headquarters in France yesterday.

The ceremonies were attended by Viscount Gort, commander-in-chief of the British forces in the field.

The commanding officer of the French troops read citations awarded posthumously to two officers, Brigadier Jean-Pierre See, killed in action while leading a British patrol on a raid, and Liaison Officer Mouton, who refused to leave his post although seriously ill and remained on duty until he died.

Viscount Gort pinned the British Military Medal on a French non-commissioned officer and the commanding French general decorated another.

WAR STAND OF C. C. F. NOMINEE IS CRITICIZED

REGINA, March 6.—J. F. Herman (Social Credit, Melville) in continuing his budget debate in the Saskatchewan legislature yesterday criticized the war stand of a Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidate in the Dominion election campaign.

He charged that A. H. G. Mitchell, C.C.F. candidate for Kindersley constituency, in a letter to the Kindersley Clarion shortly before the outbreak of war had stated "Canada should declare strict neutrality."

G. H. Williams, C.C.F. leader of the opposition, stated that he had already remonstrated with the Kindersley candidate for his war stand and suggested Mr. Herman did not need to continue his "ranting." Later Mr. Williams withdrew this remark at suggestion of the speaker.

Plan To Abandon Railroad Branch Lines Is Attacked

WINNIPEG, March 6. — Premier John Bracken and Errick F. Willis, Conservative leader of the opposition, yesterday joined in attacking efforts of the railway companies to abandon branch lines in Manitoba.

Mr. Willis and members in these constituencies where branch lines have been marked for closing, agreed to confer with Premier Bracken in re-wording a resolution sponsored in the legislature by John Lawrie (Cook, Norfolk). The resolution protested the closing of the McGregor-Varcoe branch of the Canadian Pacific railway, but under re-wording it would apply to all branch lines effected.

During 1939, according to records of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, more than 17,000 miles of highway of all types were completed

Air Blockade Of Britain, Land Attack Against France Are On Nazi Calendar

Power Of Plane In War Soon May Meet Great, Grim Test

By THOMAS M. JOHNSON

"AGGRESSIVE spirit, boldness, shock"—so preaches the Nazi Reichswehr's Bible, its Field Service Regulations. Such is the total war that in these tense days is being whetted into a terrible, swift sword.

Soon that sword will slash away the diplomatic and political fetters binding Nazi strategy.

As the Franco-British blockade begins to pinch and as Germany's supplies are delayed—from Russia by the Finnish War and from the Balkans by frozen rivers—then through the air the sword will strike.

First it will attempt a total air blockade of Britain's island fastness by striking at the commerce that is the defenders' life, shipping and ports. That failing to starve Britain out, then will come assault on France's field fortress, the strongest in world history.

Today's driving effort is to prepare for both conflicts, which must come in a matter of weeks, barring some utterly unforeseen development.

WITH EASTER, WAR

What can be foreseen is that not until about Easter will weather over Britain favor large-scale assistent raiding and accurate bombing.

About the same holds for ground operations in France. In the World War the bigger German attack on Verdun came in February — and failed. The German weather bureau picked March 21, 1918—and aided by wonderful weather, the Germans broke the western front. But that was a rifle-pit compared to the present fortifications.

Those fortifications are the French Maginot Line and its extensions north behind the Luxembourg-Belgian and south behind the Swiss-Italian frontiers. The central portion alone forms the "Western Front" where the Nazis have been raiding for information and to develop "aggressive spirit" in troops soon to launch a great attack.

Probably they will attack where they have been raiding—the hundred-mile strip between Moselle and Rhine. Here, including some old A.E.F. ground, the Maginot Line is most vulnerable. But even here the terrain is roughly accidented, its underground labyrinth backed by a 25-mile zone of new field works and a chain of cities long fortified. The Germans call the Maginot Line "strong but brittle."

AIR ARM IS GREAT UNKNOWN

Indeed, that frontier would seem to be impregnable, but for the greatest of all this war's great unknowns. As Marshal Petain puts it: "The fundamental military laws are in danger. The airplane may impose its own laws."

Spain and lately, Poland, seem to prove that with enough help from the air, infantry can still break through, despite modern automatic arms. Now, if on the Western Front it is proved that shells cannot penetrate underground fortresses, can air bombs seal them up by wrecking their protruding steel cupolas and reverse-slope entrances, and hinder their reinforcement by breaking communications rearward? Only a tial can answer.

And even then, eastern France offers no such tank country as did Poland. Behind the Maginot line's "weak link" east of Nancy wait surrounding mountains and fortresses to trap the Nazi mechanized forces.

GERMANS ARE FLANKERS

A head-down, butting attack is for the Nazis not only risky with morale a bit doubtful, but contrary to their Bible. That Bible preaches the glories of Cannae, where 1216 B.C.) Hannibal crushed the Romans not by butting but by squeezing from flank and rear. His Carthaginians enveloped them as Von Brauchitsch enveloped the Poles.

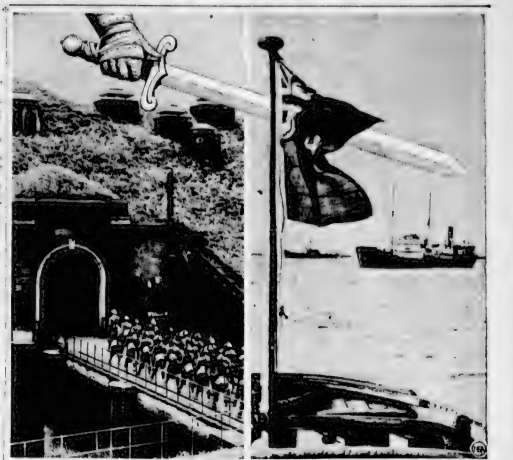

Against the Franco-British the Germans may first feint, as Hannibal did, at the front door, but really break into the house by going around to the back. The 1914 route is barred today by a strong Belgian army and fortifications; Dutchmen and dykes, with traps beneath canal ice. Then comes the difficult Sienay entrance to France via the rocky Meuse-Argonne A. E. F. battlefield.

Even if the Germans stop short up Scandinavia and the Balkans, and perhaps the British and French Empires too, with a Russia they are cajoled to counter-attack that will have become her full partner—if Germany wins.

Until that "if" becomes certainty, the world toils, armies form, factories hum.

Any day now we shall begin to see the answer to the great riddle upon which ultimately the answer depends—the greatest riddle of all. Can great air power, fully and ruthlessly exerted, crush great sea-power and industrial power.

If so, it is the end of democracy in Europe.

A "terrible, swift sword" is poised to strike . . . first at Britain's shipping . . . then at France's field fortress, the Maginot Line.

The Allies furiously forge a defensive war machine designed to resist an expected German offensive at one or several of the points within the white circle on the map above: (A) against England's channel—and other—ports; (B) through the Netherlands and Belgium; (C) through Luxembourg; (D) against a theoretically "unbreachable" sector of the Maginot Line; (E) across the Swiss-Italian frontiers.

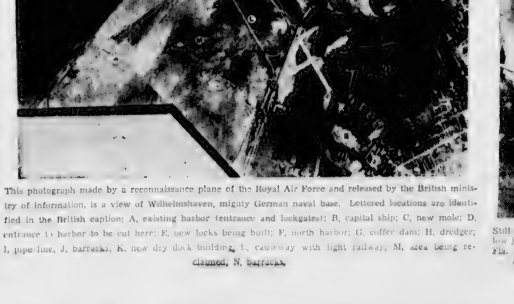

New Wrinkles for Warfare in Wintertime

Even the motorcycles were skis as northern Finland as the Arctic fighters adapt transport to severe winter conditions by placing runners on the cycles and trailers.

Holland finds her flood defences still in working order as army amphibian car, bogged down after breaking through line on daring 'no' manoeuvres, is unable to regain the frozen surface and advance.

The Roundup

YESTERDAY in Winnipeg at the annual banquet of the Manitoba Curling Association at which Brier contenders were guests of honor Col. Peter Lyall of Montreal, trustee of the Brier tankard announced: "It is our desire to give every section of Canada an opportunity of seeing the Brier championship games." He then declared that the Dominion final would be played at the Granite Club in Toronto in 1941 and in Quebec City in 1942.

Western curlers will greet this announcement with a great deal of enthusiasm for it means that eventually Edmonton will get the Dominion finals. The Alberta Curling Association has already made a bid for them and it seems as if there is a good chance of the curling classic coming here about 1943.

I have an idea that the Brier trustees had their eyes opened when they saw some 1,500 fans watching Cliff Manahan defeat Hall of Ontario the other day. That sort of public interest in curling is something new to people who are used to watching games at the Granite in Toronto.

Moving the Brier finals from province to province is the logical method of handling them and will prove of more value to the game than keeping them anchored in Toronto.

How They Stand Over the Years

FROM year to year super rinks and skips arise in this province and that, some good ones get breaks and some poor ones get good breaks, so possession of the Brier trophy is not what you would call an exact method of determining the relative calibre of curling in the various provinces of the Dominion. It's do or die tonight at the Arena for Playing Coach Eddie O'Keefe and his Flyers. The Edmonton squad meets Calgary's hustling Stampeders in the second game of the two-of-three semi-final series in the provincial senior playdowns. The Cowboys rode to a victory of 5-2 in the first game. Thus the Flyers must come through tonight—or else its curtains for the Edmonton squad. Laurel Harvey, acquired from Olds Elks following Gordie Robbins' illness, will again guard the Flyer goal tonight. The remainder of the club is reported in fine fettle, having had a couple of snappy practices since their first loss. Flyers will be back on home ice, too, a spot where they won the majority of their schedule games. Should Flyers cop a decision tonight a third game will be played in Calgary on Saturday. Turner Valley Oilers and Lethbridge Maple Leafs, bracketed in the other semi-final, will also meet tonight, the game scheduled for Calgary. The game here will start at 8:30 p.m. and a record crowd is expected.

Maple Leaf Juveniles Win by 10-4: E.A.C. Midgets Drub Ritchie by 9-1

MAPLE LEAFS and Edmonton Athletic Club came through with smashing triumphs in last night's juvenile and midget finals, the Leafs trimming King Edward Park 10-4 in the Juvenile tilt and E.A.C. winning against Ritchie by a 9-1 count in the midget game. These were first games in the final series and gives the winners a game margin as they practically clinched the city championship.

Leafs were good for 19 scoring points, 10 goals and nine assists as they swept through King Edward Park's valiant squad to score a decisive win. Leafs never looked back after scoring three in the first frame. [illegible]

E.A.C.'s next opposition will come from Trail, British Columbia's champions and a date for the opening of this series will be announced shortly. The E. A. C. and Trail Tigers series will be played here, the winner advancing against Saskatchewan for the far west title.

Bruins Unleash Power To Trounce Wings by 7-2

BOSTON, March 6.—Needing every possible point in the battle for the National Hockey League leadership with New York Rangers, Boston Bruins threw tremendous power against the weakened Detroit Red Wings and gained a 7-2 victory last night before 12,000 at the Boston Garden.

The triumph, which wiped out Sunday's setback in Detroit, moved the Bruins to within a point of Lester Patrick's pace-maker, who have but three more games to play against five for the Stanley cup titlists.

Bruins rapped in five goals before the visitors scored in rather freak fashion in the final period.

Bobby Bauer topped the Bruins' scorers with two unassisted tallies and Milt Schmidt, the league's leading scorer, celebrated his 22nd birthday by annexing a goal and an assist that boosted his total to 47 points. The other Boston goalmakers were Roy Conacher, Herb Cain, Dit Clapper and Red Hamill.

Goalie Frankie Brimsek's hopes of chalking up his sixth shutout died during the second minute of the final session when Syd Abel aimed a shot that struck Clapper on the chest and dropped between his legs. Clapper lost sight of the puck and before he could clear it Ken Kilrea jabbed it free and flipped it into the Boston net.

Mighty Manitobans Score Four Straight Victories in Brier Play

WINNIPEG, March 6.—Western rinks stepped ahead of the field in the Macdonald's Brier Canadian curling championship Thursday. Manitoba remained unbeaten with four wins while Alberta and Saskatchewan occupied second place with three victories and a single loss each.

Northern Ontario, co-leader with Manitoba after Monday's first two rounds, was beaten twice Tuesday but the major surprise was the 15-9 victory scored by 70-year-old Col. Archie Bell of Quebec City on the afternoon draw over the 1939 Brier champions, Bert Hall's Ontario four from Kitchener.

Bell, without a victory when the day began, nosed out the winless Prince Edward Island quartet in the morning but was given little chance to subdue the great Kitchener quartet, playing in the Brier for a third consecutive year.

KNOCK-OUT WINS

Halls rink downed their intra-province rivals from Kirkland Lake, skipped by Jim Davis, 11-9 in the morning and Davis bowed 8-6 to the superlative knock-out game of Bill Dunbar's Saskatchewan boys from Kinley in the afternoon.

HARRINGAY SIX BEATS CANADA'S ARMY PUCKSTERS

LONDON, March 6—Harringay All-Stars swamped a representative first Canadian division hockey team 11-2 last night in a challenge game for the benefit of the Beaver Club, recreation centre for Canadian soldiers in London.

Anothony Eden, dominions secretary, faced off the puck. The Countess and Earl of Athlone headed a distinguished group of spectators which included the Canadian, South African, Australian and New Zealand high commissioners and Brig.-General A. C. Critchley, Major-General H. D. G. Crerar and Brigadier J. Stewart.

The All-Stars were on top from the start, scoring three times in 12 minutes. Speedy Groh of St. Catharines, Ont., worked like a Trojan for the soldiers. W. F. A. Robinson of Owen Sound, Ont., and Jack Belwa, Kingston, Ont., were the goal getters.

The soldiers, seven down in the last period, were handicapped further in their attempts to catch up when a strained leg muscle forced Groh to leave the game.

The All-Star scorers were Bill Klem, Kenora, Ont., four; Dunc Cheyne, Winnipeg, and Joe Beaton, New Glasgow, N.S., two each, and Duke Campbell, Winnipeg, Lindsay McDougall, Portage La Prairie, Man., and Rene Trudel, Winnipeg.

S-T-R-E-T-C-H AND SMILE

By GROUP LEADER E. HORNUNG

News of the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training Activities in P.T.

A large crowd attended the performance put on at the Masonic Temple on Thursday by Jean Fuller's class, a program of keep-fit exercises, work for twos and bench was very interesting, particularly the bench work which is something new for ladies' classes. A little tap-dancing by three of the girls was an added attraction. Mrs. Hogg gave a short talk on P.T. work and tea was served afterwards. Everybody seemed to enjoy the afternoon.

Talk about folk dancing! "Peanut" Brady always could swing it, but now he is even swinging the good old Flemish. What next Peanut? We also hear from Ponoka that the hiking is very good, but not much hiking to be had.

The Separate high school class had an entertaining evening on Thursday when the girls showed fundamental gymnastic and work in twos. Helping to make the performance a real success were members of the Tuckshop in Garneau and also members from the North Edmonton class. The southside girls did some very nice tumbling considering the short time they have had for practice. We all enjoyed the spills. Isobel Weir showed her North Edmonton girls in pyramids and they really go to town on that stuff. Everybody took part in the folk dance and refreshments. The proceeds were sufficient to assure the Sep High and Garneau a month rent on halls and also give them a new tumbling mat and a bench for the Masonic centre.

ROUTLEDGE BACK

Reports coming in all the way from the border towards Edmonton that all bloodcurdling and fantastic magazines have been brought up, had given us warning that "Snoopervisor" Routledge was on his way to the Capitol City. We were right. Saturday being the Edmonton leaders' meeting day, and all our young lady leaders attending, we were sure to find Mr. Bob right there. We hear he expects to be in the city for some time.

The ladies from King Edward, Norwood, North Edmonton and the Highlands held a joined display on Wednesday and it was a treat to be a spectator at this performance. We were served fundamentals, doubles, keep-fit and folk dance, in which the girls appeared in costumes making it an outstanding feature on the program. Afterwards the four teams competed in a relay race in which the North Edmonton girls proved the best runners.

FROM COUNTRY POINTS

From Rosyth comes word that Lean Wendt commenced classes again after the three weeks Agricultural course, he is working hard on a display table.

Lougheed reports a splendid turnout to the Valentine dance. The results of proposals have not yet been counted up, but a howling good time was had by everybody. An Ethel "Crush" Olson did most of the bowling.

Victoria Centre will have an open night soon with Mrs. David baking a cake to be raffled off during the evening.

START ON DISPLAY TABLE

At the Normal centre the boys are having the usual fun. The 'senorsaults are getting better all the time and the centre will be starting to work on the new men's display table during the week. We hope to see everybody there so we can make the display a real success. The young ladies are working very hard and we have a suspicion that something is in the wind, but Doris is not telling and Gordon Garside has taken up nursing these days so we cannot get at the inside of the secret from that side either. Mrs. Hancox has accomplished the headstand and Smithie can roll forward, backward or any other way you want. Alethea finds her feet getting very warm so high up in the air and prefers to bend the knees in the headstand while little Miss Sutherland just smiles at it all and goes on thumping along.

We have not been able to get any news from Vic Woodland this week. He is very busy he tells us. We wonder who it is that went to "Gone with the Wind" with our good-looking Swedish friend.

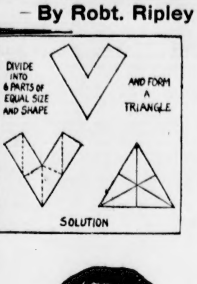

Bob Routledge reports from Calgary that they have a couple that can do the push-up jinnie. Well, we have some in the city of Edmonton that start pushing up at the beginning of the class and have to be stopped two hours later in order that we can close the gym. Now come again Bob.

Terry's Gotham Giants Are 'If' Boys of League

By WHITNEY MARTIN

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 6.—There is a fairly general idea that New York Giants of the National Baseball League are an "if" club this year, with some of the more skeptical bunching all the little "Ifs" together under one big if to the effect that " if that's a winning ball club I'm the fourth of July."

The opinion is based on memory of the 1939 season when Bill Terry's club wound up a badly deflated fifth.

But just tune in a minute on the Terry hour.

"Frankly," he says, "I'd rather have this club than the one I started with last year—knowing what I do now.

"There's nothing wrong with our pitching staff. Hubbell and Schumacher are like a couple of kids out there. Vandeweghe is looking good, Castleman is working hard and Gumbert and Melton are okay. Roy Joiner is going to be a big help.

"Babe Young will be our first baseman. If Zeke Bonura signs I'll carry him but he doesn't figure in my plans."

Terry's voice cracked with enthusiasm as he spoke of Mickey Witek, second baseman from Newark.

"There's a ball player," he enthused. "You only have to look at him two minutes to know that He'll make our double play combination."

FORT MYERS, Fla.—Cleveland Indians believe they have a pitching "find" in Paul Calvert, 21-year-old spectacled semi-pro from Montreal. Manager Oscar Vitt heard Calvert's fast one singing past the hitters and thought a rough ball made the music. Vitt gave Calvert a new, shiny ball. It also sang. And coach Johnny Bassler reported the youngster also has a hook and control.

TAMPA, Fla.—Inasmuch as the pitchers still are making it easy this may not mean much, but a young fellow who has a chance to turn up in Cincinnati Reds' lineup is Myron (Mike) McCormick, late of Indianapolis. The 200-pound rookie outfielder is hitting the ball to all fields.

ANAHEIM, Calif. — Manager Connie Mack saw a demonstration of something Philadelphia Athletics have lacked for some years—power—as the A's slammed out 16 hits, three homers, to defeat Portland 12-10 Tuesday.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—It seems a trifle odd, as Manager Leo Durocher admits, to see Brooklyn Dodgers working hard on such things as the niceties of base running and cut-off plays, but Leo insists they're important even to Brooklyn.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—Ace Parker, the Brooklyn pro football star who is here for a tryout with Pittsburgh Pirates, is the centre of considerable training camp interest. He is out to make good as an infielder.

SARASOTA, Fla.—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox Crack "zophomore" outfielder, isn't modest about his hitting. He has a bet with Lefty Grove that he will belt one over the right field fence—418 feet from the plate. And he's so confident he already has wired his tailor what he wants.

Return of Middleweight Matmen Warmly Received

PROMOTER Mike Cutcher's announcement that the popular middleweight wrestlers will return to the Memorial Hall this Friday was warmly received by wrestling fans here. The return of the middies has greatly increased the mat interest for these lighter young men with their speed always captured the spotlight here.

Promoter Cutcher has not decided just how Friday's matmen will be matched for this week which will open an elimination tournament for the silver belt. A checkup on weights will have to be made, however, the rules are winner will get two points, a draw earns one point and the loser is out of luck. The bouts will either be two-of-three falls or one fall and a longer time limit.

Wrestlers appearing here on the card Friday are Hubertus Pelzer, Chuck Ketchen and Vic Hanna, all newcomers and Oscar Mosfeldt, Daby Melnick while Johnny Dean, Mike Percheson and Leo Magiel will see action.

This bout between Percheson and Magiel should produce plenty of fireworks. Both boys have no love for each other. Percheson claims that he will stop Magiel in short order with his famous drop-kick while Magiel boasts that he will not give him a chance to use it.

ENUMERATION IS IN FINAL STAGE CRAWFORD SAYS

Last minute wind-up of enumeration in the Edmonton provincial constituency in preparation for the general election of March 23, was underway Wednesday, according to H. Crawford, returning officer.

We will certainly complete the work sometime Wednesday, as there are only two or three polling subdivisions to be completed. These will be turned in by Wednesday night, he said.

Expectation is that the lists will show considerably more than 50,000 voters. In the 1935 election there were more than 43,000 and less than 50,000.

Mr. Crawford stated that Wednesday morning Mrs. R. C. Purdey, Citizens' slate candidate, and A. A. G. Barnes, Independent-Progressive, had called at his office to obtain nomination paper forms. So far the only nominations actually filed is that of Edward C. Fisher, Liberal candidate on the Citizen's slate.

M'KINNON SAYS EXTRA GRANT IN YOUTH TRAINING

Word has been received in Edmonton by Hon. James A. MacKinnon, P.C., Edmonton's representative in the federal cabinet, that in addition to the $130,000 granted the province of Alberta by the federal government for the 1940 Youth Training program, a special additional grant of $12,000 is now being made to this province.

This special grant of $12,000 is to further assist in the training of mechanics for the Royal Canadian Air Force under the classifications of machinists, sheet metal workers, welders, wireless operators and other classifications in order to speed Canada's war effort.

Spring Returns After Sudden Deep Snowfall

Following Tuesday's show of temper, the weathermen cooled off Wednesday and Edmontonians awoke to find the sun shining brightly in a clear, sans sky.

The weatherman promised to remain good too, forecasting light and mild atmospheric conditions for Wednesday and Thursday.

Highest temperature Tuesday was 40 above and the lowest was 24 above. The mercury was standing at 34 above at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday and the barometer was steady at 29.73.

Snow and ice was disappearing rapidly from city streets, while dirt roads in the country are rapidly becoming sloppy and greasy from thawing. Majority of points in the near north reported the sky lightly overcast Wednesday morning, but temperatures were comparatively high and the snow was disappearing. Only points due due north in report sub-zero temperatures was Dawson at 5 below.

Plans Made For New Restaurant Downtown Site

Negotiations are being carried out to secure those Edmonton men to open a new restaurant in the Shasta Cafe premises, 10009 Jasper avenue, it was learned Wednesday.

The men, anxious to operate the cafe under its old name, "Shasta", are discussing plans with Burns Building Syndicate, Calgary, owners of the property which at present is unlenanted.

A building permit was issued by the city on Wednesday to C. J. Whitham, contractor, for $5,000 alterations, calling for a new front, changes in the staircase and removing of plumbing.

City Sailor Ill

Douglas May, of the Royal Canadian Navy, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley May, 10220 84 Ave., is confined to the General hospital in Colombo, Ceylon, according to word received by his parents. He will probably be in the hospital for eight months, having contracted pneumonia.

50 Recruits For City Regiment To Be Taken Friday

Fifty recruits for the Edmonton Regiment, formally the reinforcements "battalion" now training in Calgary, will be accepted Friday, it was announced Wednesday by Lt.-Col. A. H. Bell, officer commanding the regimental depot at the Prince of Wales armories. Fifty men will be taken on strength and sent to join the training unit at Calgary within a few days.

Applicants for enlistment in the battalion should be at the Prince of Wales armories about 8 a.m. Friday to receive papers and have medical examination, Col. Bell stated. A further allotment is to be filled about the middle of the month, followed by previous applicants, he said.

Hog Marketings Expected To Hit New High In 1940

Hog marketings in Alberta, now showing an average gain of 30 per cent over a year ago, are expected to reach a new high in 1940, with a gain of 20 to 25 per cent and possibly 40 per cent over the 1939 figure, according to Edmonton livestock experts.

It is expected that 1940 market hogs in Alberta may approximate 1,250,000 hogs, which would show a big gain over the previous peak of 1,000,000 in 1936.

The British governments decision to increase the Canadian quota on the British market for high-grade pork products at a guaranteed price, and the recent swing back into hogs, are believed to be responsible for the increases.

TROOP VOTE TO BE TAKEN ON MARCH 18

Rules Issued For Soldier Balloting In Alberta Election

Soldier vote in the provincial general election of March 21 will be recorded on March 18, according to an announcement Wednesday by R. A. Andison as chief electoral officer. This provision is included in regulations drafted under the Soldiers' Relief Act passed at the last session of the legislature.

This advance polling is for those soldiers, entitled to vote, who are quartered, for military reasons, in electoral divisions other than those in which they are entitled to vote. Those quartered in the electoral divisions in which they are entitled to vote, will vote on election day, March 21.

Enabling Order-in-Council was passed by the cabinet and signed by Chief Justice Horace Harvey as administrator today.

The regulations provide that the clerk of the executive council be appointed returning officer for the soldier vote. Mr. Andison is clerk of the council, and becomes returning officer.

ELECTION CLERK

He announced that he has appointed as his election clerk Capt. James Thomson, who has assisted him during sessions.

Capt. Thomson served with the 3rd Canadian Mounted Rifles, and is thoroughly familiar with both the soldiers' angle and the machinery of the Election Act.

Five polling places are being provided for recording the votes of soldiers stationed in Alberta.

These are at:

1.—Prince of Wales Armory, Edmonton.
2.—Armory, Calgary.
3.—Currie Barracks, Calgary.
4.—Armory, Lethbridge.
5.—Internment Camp, Kananaskis.

Polls will be opened on March 18 at 9 a.m. and will remain open until 6 p.m., except that at Kananaskis, which will be kept open only until noon.

FIRST COUNT

One reason for taking the soldier vote in advance of the election date is to enable votes of soldiers who are casting votes for candidates in Edmonton and Calgary to be returned to these cities in time for the first count following closing of polls on March 21.

Edmonton and Calgary use the proportional representation system of voting, and in such cases, where multiple candidates are elected, a quota to elect has to be set and this quota cannot be established before all the votes are in.

At the close of a poll, the regulations point out "The returning officer shall, without opening the ballot box, forthwith deliver, or cause to be delivered to the returning officer at his office in the government buildings, Edmonton, the ballot box and key, in like manner, as is provided by The Alberta Election Act."

At 5 p.m. on Thursday, March 21, the returning officer will open the ballot boxes and proceed to distribute the ballots to their respective electoral division and forward in a sealed package to the returning officers of the electoral division of Calgary and Edmonton the ballots polled for those places.

INFORMATION

The regulations make provision for enumeration of the soldiers with the gathering of information on the military, naval or air unit, place of residence at the time of joining the service and other material.

Enumeration of the soldiers is to be completed by March 12 and lists posted the same day.

On March 16 the enumerator will hear and dispose of applications for revision of the list.

Other provisions somewhat similar to those in general election practice are included in the regulations which also include an affidavit form to be filled in by the soldiers in respect to place of residence, that they have not previously voted in this election, and other matters.

CONSERVATIVES HEAR DREW IN CITY TONIGHT

Second of the national leaders of the Conservative Party to address meetings in Edmonton will be LL-Col. George A. Col. Drew recently came in conflict with the Canadian Broadcasting official censors for deletion of certain portions of his radio addresses, and it is anticipated that at the Edmonton meeting he will give an outline of the matters suppressed by the censors at that time.

Col. Drew has been the central figure in the Conservative attack on Canada's war effort, and it is anticipated his speech Wednesday evening will deal mainly with this aspect of the campaign.

A busy summer for provincial forest fires was foreseen in a report brought to Edmonton Tuesday by Pilot Archie McMullen, of Mackenzie Air Service, that as he was flying south from McMurray Tuesday he observed smoke from several ground fires northwest of Athabasca. WIDOW GETS $600 CLAIM IN JUDGMENT

Sues For $10,150 Damages Following Death of Her Husband

Mrs. Mary Silpenki, elderly Ukrainian widow of Mundare, won her suit for damages against John and Sam Fedun in Supreme Court Tuesday, but Mr. Justice Ewing allowed only about $600 in a claim of $10,150 and allowed only one counsel fee.

The suit arose from a fatal accident in Mundare on October 5 last, when John Fedun's truck, driven by his son Sam, struck and killed Mrs. Silpenki's 69-year-old husband. She claimed $150 for medical and funeral expenses; $3,000 for cutting her husband's expectancy of life and $7,000 for loss of his company and support.

Evidence showed 'hat Silpenki was a frail, worn-out man who had retired from active work several years ago, giving his farm to his son in return for an undertaking to support his parents for the remainder of their lives. The post-mortem revealed evidences of alchol on Silpenki at the time of his death.

His Lordship allowed the medical and hospital bills, but not the funeral expenses, and awarded $300 for curtailment of expectancy of life and $250 damages to the widow.

J. N. McDonald and M. J. Brien apeared for the widow and Neil D. Maclean, K.C., and H. A. White of Mundare for the defendants.

CHANCE GIVEN ON SETTLEMENT MORTGAGE CLAIM

To give Steve Bachinsky, proprietor of the Acme Rooms, an opportunity to arrange a private settlement of a mortgage claim against the property which he purchased in March of last year, Mr. Justice Ewing Wednesday granted a stay of proceedings after the plaintiffs, Richard P. Pfeiffe and the estate of Konrad K. Pfeiffe, had proved the claim.

The mortgage, originally made in 1934 for $3,000 at 8 per cent, had been assumed by Bachinsky when he purchased the property last year. As Bachinsky has paid off $400 taxes this year and has put aside $620 for the mortgage, in addition to the down payment at the time of purchase, Mr. Justice Ewing said he would give him an opportunity to make a settlement before pronouncing judgment. He pointed out that Bachinsky had assumed the mortgage with his eyes open.

A. D. Harvie, K.C., and D. Yanda appeared for the plaintiffs and A. T. McLean for the defendant, Bachinsky.

Seek Cheque Artist

City police were searching Wednesday for a smooth-talking, rustic-appearing gentleman who, describing himself as "a homesteader from up Wandering River way," passed cheques valued at $1.48, $10, $10 and $15 at various city stores Tuesday. A check-up later revealed that the cheques were worthless. The confidence man signed one cheque as "A. Miller" and the others as "Alf Miller."

DOMINION DEBT HAS LOW RATES CASSELMAN SAYS

The average rate on Canada's public debt, due to government refinancing, is lower than that of New Zealand, the country "held up by our C.C.F. friends," Lieut. F. C. Casselman, M.C., city alderman and federal Liberal candidate for East Edmonton, told a meeting in St. Luke's Hall, Bonnie Doon, Tuesday night.

He added that the policies of the Bank of Canada, now completely controlled by the people, have made possible cheap money in Alberta for home improvements and floating of Canada's first war loan at 3½ per cent, as against 5½ per cent required in the 1914 war loan. The new loan also is not tax free, Mr. Casselman was introduced by Calder Campbell. Chairman of the meeting was Charles Pollard.
